British Confining Air Raids To Night Attacks In Germany As Yet

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—British air raids on Berlin are going to be answered by vastly increased Nazi attacks on strategic points in England, German authorities warned today in their first admission that the Royal air force has reached the German capital.

One British plane was shot down and only three bombs dropped by the Royal air force in a new raid on Berlin early this morning, a spokesman said.

While the Anglo-German air war is thus attaining a faster pace daily, the British are still confining their raids to night attacks, it was said.

"Therefore German night raids over England may be expected to increase," a spokesman declared.

Intensification of the German attack has borne fruit in Birmingham. It was said, where "scores upon scores" of bombs were rained upon aircraft plants. Birmingham, birthplace of former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, was described

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Although autumn is almost a full month away, New Castle folks got a taste of fall weather Sunday, when the mercury never got above 59 degrees, and a cold rain fell. The rain, of course, was deeply appreciated but not the frigid temperatures, as many folks had to dig into the coal pile too early in the season to suit them.

Autoists traveling the Butler road, on Sunday afternoon, at one time were obliged to crawl up several hills at a rate of about three miles an hour because of slow moving trucks.

Sunday was one of the coolest August days that has been recorded in this section in many years.

Out along the Harlansburg road there are a considerable number of displays of gladiolas that are most attractive.

On the highway leading north from the Princeton intersection are a number of trees that appear to have been attacked by locusts, or affected by some sort of blight. The leaves are most all brown.

* * *

Many of the houses in New Castle had smoke curling from the chimneys yesterday, as fires were lighted because of the unseasonable temperatures.

Fear Hostilities May Develop In Balkans

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, Aug. 26.—Preparations for possible hostilities were under way today as apprehension increased in Balkan political circles.

In Budapest air raid precautions were ordered and street lights were shaded.

The London Daily Express reported that with alarm growing as a result of suspension of Rumanian-Hungarian negotiations over Transylvania. Rumania has started calling up reserves.

From Budapest the same paper reported that the Hungarian army has requisitioned two-thirds of the city's taxis and that fire-fighting equipment has been assembled.

One cause of nervousness was British insistence upon guaranteeing aid to Greece against any Italian attack. This was said to have been communicated to Greek Premier John Metaxas by British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax in a telephone conversation.

While some circles took the view that talks with Rumania regarding Transylvania would be renewed later in the week, most government quarters looked upon the Italo-Greek crisis as a possible spark that might set the Balkans ablaze.

Britain's position regarding Greece was regarded as a clear-cut challenge to Italy, which has been demanding that Greece renounce the British guarantee.

Danger of a "blow-off' was deemed increased by reported heavy concentrations of Italian troops on the Albanian-Greek frontier.

In addition, units of the British Mediterranean fleet were reported massed in Greek ports. Whatever line of action Metaxas follows, Budapest circles believed, the British fleet will move independently against any Italian invasion move.

Seek To Limit Debate On Conscription Bill

By ROBERT A. McGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Confident President Roosevelt's support has turned the tide, senate administration leaders today predicted a quick agreement to place the military conscription bill under debate limitation, and its passage by Thursday.

The optimistic forecast of the Democrats supporting the bill were echoed by Acting Senate Minority Leader Austin. He declared that 51 votes have been pledged for the bill, in addition to agreeing with Majority Leader Barkley that there will be little trouble in obtaining a debate limitation agreement.

Forty Amendments

Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., chosen by the opposition bloc to negotiate their debate limitation proposals, said his tentative plans would restrict the limitation to the measure's amendments, about 40 of them, and withhold definite agreement on the bill itself until the amendments are disposed of. He expects any agreement made will be based on the assumption that a final vote will be reached this week.

He said the opponents have accepted the Norris-LaFollette proposal to stand firm against an attempt to place a definite time to vote on the bill and its substitutes. If such an agreement were made, Wheeler explained, it might preclude consideration of some amendments regardless of the fact they were already under limited discussion.

The immediate outcome of the debate limitation discussions depends chiefly on whether administration leaders will agree to allow Sen. Johnson (D) Colo., a chief opponent of the legislation, deliver his lengthy speech before any restrictions are invoked. However, Johnson may withdraw his intended speech, or give it over the radio.

Debate Limitation

Barkley said the debate limitation proposals will be submitted to the senate after disposition of the Lodge amendment to confine the actual trainees under the draft program to 800,000 at any one time. This amendment is already under a debate limitation of 15 minutes to each senator.

Both proponents and opponents of the bill to make 12,000,000 men between 21 and 31 liable to a year's military training admit the president's endorsement, and request for

Greatest Slugging Match In History Under Way

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The greatest slugging match in history is under way.

Over the week-end and today the Germans blasted England and the British blasted Germany in a war of annihilation which nothing but winter fog may temporarily interrupt.

Step by step the air war is moving towards that total form which will include an attempt by the German Luftwaffe utterly to destroy the British population.

Bomb Indiscriminately

Last night and early today the Germans indiscriminately bombed several midland and coastal towns and cities. As a rule first reports of such bombings tend to leave an exaggerated impression of the damage and a later check-up reveals that the harm done was slight.

Nevertheless, the total material losses inflicted by the Germans upon British cities over the last three days must be reckoned as considerable. Yet its net effect upon British morale has been to redouble the anger of the public and steel its determination never to end this war without having crushed Hitlerism.

Public indignation at the unprovoked and indiscriminate bombing of the center of London yesterday morning expresses itself today in a widespread demand for reprisals against Berlin.

But Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair as well as the British government have gone on record that there will not be an indiscriminate bombing by the R. A. F. and that there never will be intentional bombing of a civilian population.

This is not because the British are any longer "sissy" about this war, but because authorities feel they can use bombs best against military objectives.

Registering Of Aliens To Start Here Tuesday

Fingerprinting Also To Be Done—Plans For Work Complete

REGISTRATION AT POST OFFICE BUILDING

Registration and fingerprinting of all aliens in the New Castle district will begin in room 201 of the Federal building, the Civil Service examination room, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Postmaster William R. Hanna this afternoon issued final instructions to the staff which during the next few months will handle the formal registration and fingerprinting of an estimated 2,000 non-citizens.

The staff earlier in the day received tips on fingerprinting at the city police station from Chief Willis G. McMullen.

Failure to be registered and fingerprinted, or refusal to be fingerprinted or make proper answers to questions, will result in $1,000 fine and six months imprisonment, Postmaster Hanna warned.

The local registration work is in line with a nation-wide registration of all aliens 14 years of age and over.

Here the task will be under the immediate supervision of Miss Garnet M. Rhodes, secretary to the local Civil Service board. Assisting her will be Miss Mary Kedelko and Harold Kuhn, who were drawn for duty from the regular Civil Service rolls. Regular postal workers, Postmaster Hanna said, will be assigned to the work should the registration throng grow heavy.

Invalid aliens, or others whose health will prevent them from reporting at the post office, will be registered in their homes. Postmaster Hanna and Postmaster Joseph Standish at Bessemer have arranged to handle the Bessemer section aliens at Bessemer at a date to be announced later.

The Ellwood City post office will also register aliens reporting there.

While four months' time will be given for the registration, Postmaster Hanna suggests that all who come under this category should register promptly.

Interpreters should accompany an alien who cannot speak English, the postmaster said. That will assist the staff considerably. It was also suggested that representatives of local organization might contact the postmaster for important information on the registration work.

Answers given by aliens on Form AR-1 will be sworn to by each signer and authorities stress that it will remain confidential.

Daily registration hours will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturdays the hours will be from 9 until noon.

Legion Band Wins First At Farrell

Local Musical Organization Scores Another Triumph In Firemen's Parade

New Castle's American Legion Cadet Band scored another victory in connection with the parade of the Northwestern Pennsylvania firemen which concluded a week's convention at Farrell, Saturday, when they were awarded first prize in the Junior division, which carried with it an award of $50.

The band accompanied the New Castle firemen to the convention parade and led the local delegation. They were in competition with a large number of bands from the Western Pennsylvania district.

Thursday morning, the band will go to Washington, Pa., where they will march at the head of the New Castle Elks delegation in the state convention parade in that city, and will complete with many other bands for honors.

Balloons Are Attacked By Fast German Flyers

By FRANK BUTLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

AT A SOUTHEAST COAST PORT, Eng., Aug. 26—A small formation of German Messerschmidt fighters today staged a lightning raid on Britian's balloon barrage, machine-gunned civilians on waterfronts streets and then tangled with swift flying British defense planes.

Two Messerschmidt's were reported brought down and one balloon lost.

Shortly afterwards, a second formation of Messerschmidt's again attacked the balloons apparently attempting to divert attention from a bombing attack heard proceeding in the distance.

There were no balloon casualities in the second attack.

The personnel attached to the balloon barrages in both attacks showing greatest courage. They knelt down cooly and blazed away with the rifles at the attackers, while British hurricanes zoomed into the air and finally chased both waves out to sea. A number of doglights took place.

Many civilians had narrow escapes from the hail of machine gun bullets which accompanied the German's departure out to sea.

One of the Messerschmidts brought down by an R. A. F. plane crashed into the sea. British vessels gave assistance to the crew while a Nazi seaplane roared overhead.

Seven Nazi planes were believed downed in a terrific new air battle which occurred when Spitfires

Six Hurt In Highway Crash

Sent To Hospital Here Following Portersville Accident This Morning

Several persons were injured in an auto crash, several miles north of Portersville at 6:40 a. m. today and required hospital treatment according to State Motor Police Privates J. A. Krzton and A. E. Kaleita of Butler.

The injured:

Mr. and Mrs. John Guyton, the former driver of one car, of 506 Thirty Eighth street, Beaver Falls. Both in the Jameson Memorial hospital. Mr. Guyton has fractured ribs, cuts and bruises of the head and body. Mrs. Guyton has a laceration above both eyes, bruises and scratches. Their daughter, Marjorie, has a cut inside a lower lip and a son, Donald, has a laceration of the forehead.

Mrs. Louise Wallace, Columbus, an aunt of Mr. and Mrs. Guyton, an occupant of Guyton's vehicle, sustained injuries to her mouth and face; New Castle hospital.

Elmer Miller, Portersville, R. D. 1, pelvis injury, bruises and scratches; New Castle hospital.

According to the investigators Guyton was enroute to Canada and Miller, enroute to work. Miller reportedly drove from a private road on the east side of the Perry Highway, in front of Guyton's car.

Ask Water Lines Be Extended In Shenango Township

ALL OF VICTIMS RESIDE IN ERIE

(International News Service)

CORRY, Pa., Aug. 26.—Four persons were killed and two others were injured, one seriously, last night when a loaded passenger car crashed head-on into a West Ridge bus enroute to Warren, Pa., Warren Coroner Ed Lowry reported early today.

Two of the car's passengers, Felix Corvino, 45, and Mrs. Joe De Castro, 46, were killed instantly, while two others, Mrs. Amelia Petrucelli, and Joe DeCastro, 56, driver of the machine, died in a Corry hospital later.

Mrs. Felix Corvino was reported in serious condition in Corry hospital, with severe chest injuries. All of the car passengers were from Erie.

One of the five passengers on the bus, Dorothy Craker, 22, of Corry, sustained an injured leg, while the driver, Robert McWilliams, of Warren, escaped injury. The other four came through unscathed.

Coroner Lowry, of Warren County, started an immediate investigation. State police said the accident occurred on Route 6, three miles east of Corry, near Columbus, Pa. One officer said the De Castro car was apparently approaching an underpass at a high speed and being unable to negotiate a curve, crashed head-on into the bus.

Willkie Declines To Debate With McNutt

By WALT KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Aides of Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for president, let it be known today that the nominee not only favors quick passage of the selective service act (conscription) by congress but believes it to be an indispensable factor in national defense. At the same time, the candidate accused the Roosevelt administration of "dallying" in the vital matter of air preparedness.

Willkie meanwhile promptly rejected a bid from Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt to debate the issues of the campaign. To debate with McNutt, rather than President Roosevelt, would be a "pure loss of time," Willkie said.

"No Indispensable Man"

He released to reporters without comment a quotation from a campaign speech by Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 in which he was quoted as saying "there is no indispensable man" for the office of president. This reference to Herbert Hoover in the 1932 campaign was intended by Willkie as an argument against Mr. Roosevelt's quest for a third term.

Since Willkie spoke out for "some sort of selective service' in his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., all manner of construction has been placed on the phrase and there has been some confusion as to how far he would favor going along the road to military training.

His aides today reported that he used the phrase with a precise meaning as in World war days when it meant universal registration and selection with the privilege of exemption for particular cause. They indicated that if the bill is not

Air War Over England Being Much Increased

London Reports 64 Nazi Planes Shot Down In Yesterday's Raids

ALSO REPORTS AIR RAIDS ON GERMANY

Much Damage Is Caused By Nazi Raids On English Cities And Towns

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 26.—While reports indicated at least 64 Nazi planes shot down in the last 24 hours of the speedily intensifying air war over England, Great Britain today announced devastating R. A. F. attacks upon the Rhur and other important German industrial areas.

Arms factories in the Berlin district also were attacked, it was said.

Immense Destruction

At the same time, details became available of the immense destruction wrought by German planes upon an important city in the English midlands during yesterday's series of Nazi raids.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The German high command claims the city was Birmingham, birthplace of former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and one of the country's leading industrial centers.)

One family of six was wiped out when their home was hit directly by a German bomb. Several persons were killed when another missile landed on a steel air raid shelter.

Nazi Planes Driven Back From London

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Large formations of German bombers and fighter planes today roared up the Thames estuary toward London, but were driven off before reaching the British capital.

As anti-aircraft fire and R. A. F. fighters soared aloft and engaged the attackers, a series of aerial battles broke out high above southeastern England.

Approximately 300 Nazi planes carried out today's raids on England, and up to late afternoon it was unofficially reported that 15 German aircraft had been destroyed in the course of the day.

Approach of the Nazi squadrons caused sounding of the sixteenth air raid alarm of the war and the sixth in three days. The sirens were sounded just as the early editions of the evening papers rolled off the press with word of violent new R. A. F. attacks on armament works in the Berlin area and industrial plants in the Ruhr.

Famous Little London Church Bombed

"Minor Westminster Abbey" Is Damaged By Nazi Attack On Sunday

BODY OF MILTON LIES IN SHRINE

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Germans have bombed and partially destroyed what might well be called one of London's minor Westminster Abbeys, and I have spent some time observing what historians describe as the most important harm yet inflicted by the luftwaffe upon a British artistic and religious memorial.

A lone plane which circled at between twenty and thirty thousand feet above London on Sunday morning finally dropped a stick of bombs over the city and did much material damage, but artistically its worst injury was done to the famous little church of St. Giles Cripplegate.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This dispatch definitely locates the scene of the Sunday raid. St. Cripplegate lies deep in the "city" of London on Fore Street, a short distance beyond the Guildhall and London wall in an area that on any week-end day would have been jammed to overflowing with business workers.)

This tiny medieval structure is known to thousands of American tourists who have visited it to stand by the grave of John Milton. That poet's family considered it more desirable that he be buried in St. Giles than in Westminster Abbey, and thereby one can estimate the importance of St. Giles.

Careful, Mr. Willkie. When a president makes wisecracks, he is unbending to show he is human; when a mere candidate does it, he lacks dignity.

British And Greek Naval Units Seek Italian Warships

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 26.—British and Greek naval units are cruising in Greek waters on the look-out for Italian warships believed to be "in the offing," the London Daily Telegraph reported from Athens today.

The paper stated mines have been laid around the Greek coasts and airplanes forbidden to cross Greek territory.

The Greek government is continuing to call reserves to the colors, the dispatch added.

Italian Army Vet Drops Dead

Frank Rossi, aged 65 years, a veteran of the Italian army during the World War, who resided at Cherry Hill just off the Harlansburg road in upper Croton (New Castle, R. D. 4) dropped dead from a heart attack Sunday evening, at 5:30 o'clock, Coroner T. F. Nugent reports.

Rossi, who returned to Italy during the World War period, served in the army during that time and later returned to this country. As far as can be learned, he has no relatives in the United States.

Rossi was born in Florence, Italy on September 10, 1874.

Funeral mass will be celebrated in St. Vitus church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. The body is now at the Capitolo funeral home, 208 East North St.

RAID ON BERLIN WILL SPEED UP GERMAN ATTACKS

as one of Britain's chief armament centers.

War-Like Demonstration

Britain's last night raid on Berlin was described more as a warlike demonstration than an effective attack and gave Berlin's anti-aircraft defenses a real chance to go into action. The guns virtually went on a rampage, but otherwise the center of the city remained quiet although a few flares were seen in the distance.

Several persons were reported injured in various parts of Berlin by shrapnel from the city's own anti-aircraft guns. One British incendiary missile fell on a district within Berlin proper and two others dropped on the outskirts of the capital.

Earlier these same quarters had contended that no bombs but only leaflets were dropped by the British planes.

Anti-aircraft guns in the heart of Berlin went into action for the first time since the war began against the raiders, who launched what authorities here called the "biggest attempt yet" to attack the German capital.

One of the incendiary bombs caused a fire in a small suburban garden and shack, officials said, adding that the flames were quickly extinguished.

Air Raid Alarms

There was no further damage, authorities indicated.

Air raid alarms first began screaming in Berlin at 12:28 a. m. (6:28 p. m., EDT Sunday). The all clear sounded at 3:25 a. m., (9:25 p. m., EDT Sunday).

German authorities said reports of a second alarm in Berlin this morning "were nonsense."

Heavy anti-aircraft firing continued until almost 3 a. m., splinters from the shells dropped like hail in the streets of Berlin.

A moment after the first warning was given, heavy detonations were heard in the southwestern suburbs several miles outside the city, followed by white flashes which lighted the while sky.

Whether these detonations came from anti-aircraft fire or the British incendiary bombs was not immediately clear.

Single Plane Over City

Anti-aircraft units in the center of Berlin began barking furiously when the motor of a single plane was heard flying directly overhead at a tremendous altitude.

After blazing away for several minutes the guns became silent. But three times more a single plane flew over Berlin, each time drawing more heavy fire from the ground batteries.

Finally the plane was heard flying away in a westerly direction.

It appeared that this lone raider was cruising in wide circles over Berlin, possibly endeavoring to locate some specific target or merely to keep the city wide awake during the early hours of the morning.

Visibility was poor. Even the bursting of anti-aircraft shells in the sky could not be seen from the streets.

Previously the German high command devealed that hundreds of German warplanes were engaged in a surprise attack on southeastern England.

This assault was said to have raised to 51 the number of British planes shot down yesterday. Twelve German planes were reported missing.

speed, have influenced several heretofore on-the-fence senators to declare for the measure.

Barkley predicted the chief obstacle to the bill, the Maloney amendment to defer the draft until Jan. 1 in favor of voluntary enlistment, will be defeated by at least 10 votes. Before the president's statement Friday, administration leaders said the votes of four or five senators held the fate of the amendment.

The Lodge amendment has considerable strength, many senators said, but they are confident of its defeat. Sen. Lodge (R) Mass., a captain in the army reserve, who recently returned from war maneuvers, asserted the testimony of war department officials shows there would be a shortage of training equipment for a greater number of draftees.

passed within a week, as Willkie expects it will be, he may either speak for it or ask a Republican member of congress to state his views on the floor.

It was indicated that the only reasons he has not restated his position are: first, because he thought he had made his view clear in his acceptance speech, and second, he did not want to appear to be of telling congress what it should do.

Assails Slow Pace

While his aides were clarifying their chief's stand on conscription, Willkie returned to another angle of national defense—airplane production and had this to say about what he termed the "typically slow pace" at which it is proceeding:

"I want to commend, very much, the action of Senator Byrd (D) Virginia, in insisting on an inquiry into why 100 days have gone by since the president suggested we need 50,000 airplanes and yet only 343 combat planes have been ordered by the army, navy and marine corps and that none of these will be delivered in this calendar year and some will not be delivered until 1942, not even the 343 that have been ordered.

"As Senator Byrd says, these figures come directly from the secretary of the navy and the secretary of war. I don't know and apparently neither does Senator Byrd know, whether this is due to the failure of the administration or the lack of adequate legislation due to the failure of congress to pass certain legislation which will permit plant expansion.

"Whatsoever the fault is, it should be removed. It is a tragic situation where we dally along in the face of the present emergency.

"If the fault is due to administrative failure, then the present administration in power should see that it is corrected immediately. If the fault lies in lack of legislation, then the present administration should speak forth and call for that legislation. It has a majority in both houses of congress and ought to be able to obtain passage.

BALLOONS ARE ATTACKED BY FAST GERMAN FLYERS

and Hurricanes intercepted a strong enemy formation crossing the southeast coast at an altitude of 30,000 feet.

A big German formation of Dornier bombers was attacked as it crossed. A large escorting force of Messerschmitts immediately dove into battle.

The only time any aircraft were seen from the ground was when they crashed in flames, but the din of motors, machine-gun and cannon-fire echoed through the air.

Three Nazi craft were seen to dive in flames inland and a Dornier came down near the beach, its crew of two parachuting into the sea. A fifth plane was reported down in the sea, its crew safe in rubber lifeboats.

No bombs were dropped during the battle.

Now the campaign interferes with defense preparations. If a patriot yells for more action, he seems a Willkie man; so Democrats must growl: "Quit knocking; everything is all right."

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Mary E. Cunningham.

Mrs. Mary E. Cunningham passed away at her home, 76 Ohio River boulevard, Emsworth, Sunday evening at 6:15 o'clock. She was in her 86th year.

Mrs. Cunningham was born in New Galilee and went to Emsworth in 1888. She was the widow of the late Milo Cunningham. For 52 years, she had been a member of Emsworth U. P. church and was a member of the Women's Missionary society of that church and the Mary and Martha Bible class. She had served as school director in the borough of Emsworth for 12 years.

Survivors are four grandchildren, Clark, Erma and Earl Cunningham, all of Chicago, and Herbert E. Geither of Emsworth.

Funeral services will be conducted from the McDonald funeral home, 529 California avenue, Avalon, Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock (D. S. T.) Interment will be made in Rocky Springs cemetery, near New Galilee, Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock (E. S. T.) Dr. J. W. Springer of Emsworth will have charge of both services.

Michael Gurluk

Michael Gurluk, aged 87, passed away Sunday at 5:45 a. m. in the Lawrence county home.

Mr. Gurluk, born in Austria, had been a resident of the home since April 30, 1928, and formerly lived on Elmwood street, this city.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the chapel at the county home with Rev. T. B. Shearer, pastor of Central Christian church, in charge. Interment will be in the county cemetery.

Mrs. Eva Broad.

Mrs. Eva Broad, aged 87, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha Hasson, 304 Freeport road, New Kensington, Saturday morning, following a lingering illness.

Mrs. Broad is survived by two daughters and five sons, including Henry O. Broad of this city.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence. Interment will be in Union cemetery, New Kensington.

James E. Wilcox

Complications following an illness of two and one half years duration resulted in the death of James E. Wilcox, aged 83, who passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Cowmeadow, New Castle R. D. 6, this morning at 5:55 o'clock.

Mr. Wilcox was born in Manchester, England, on November 4, 1856, son of John and Sarah Wilcox. He had been in New Castle for the past 50 years where he had worked for the New Castle Wire mill, and later in both New Castle tin mills. He had been retired for some time. For 53 years he was married to Harriet E. Dyson Wilcox, who preceded him in death. He was a member of the Maitland Memorial Primitive Methodist church and of the Odd Fellows and Encampment of Johnstown.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. George Cowmeadow, R. D. 6, New Castle, W. J. Wilcox of Beaver Falls, Benjamin S. Wilcox of Lincoln Place, Pa.; six grandchildren, one great-grandchild, one nephew, James Wilcox of New Castle, and several nieces and nephews in Johnstown.

The body has been removed to the Ritchie funeral home, South Mill street.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mrs. Mary A. Gilliland.

Mrs. Mary A. Gilliland, aged 80, of 498 Neshannock avenue, passed away Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the residence following a long illness. She was the widow of Frank Gilliland.

Mrs. Gilliland, born in New Castle on July 5, 1860, daughter of William C. and Anna R. Conley Robinson, spent all her life in this city. She was a member of Trinity Episcopal church.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Peter J. Hillers, and one son, Fred Gilliland, both of this city.

The body has been removed to the Joseph B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, where funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. P. C. Pearson, rector of Trinity church, in charge. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the mortuary this evening, and Tuesday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Gennaro Picorero

Mrs. Marie Carmina Picorero, aged 56, wife of Gennaro Picorero, 304 Montgomery avenue, passed away this morning at 8 o'clock at her home, following a long illness.

Mrs. Picorero was a member of St. Lucy's church and of the Mothers of St. Lucy.

Surviving are her husband, Gennaro; three sons, Frank, Michael and Anthony, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral mass will be celebrated Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Lucy's church with Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito in charge. Interment will be in St. Lucy's cemetery.

Mrs. Williams Funeral.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of L. Edwards, North Green street, for Mrs. Mary E. Williams of Camden, N. J., with Rev. U. S. Munnerlyn, pastor of the Second Baptist church, in charge.

During the services, members of the Second Baptist church, sang several beautiful selections. Members of Valley Temple of Elks, No. 167, attended in a body.

Pallbearers were James C. Moore, Walter Hill, Scott Farley, Edward Means, Charles Croxton and Ben Richardson.

Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Surgnewich Funeral.

Funeral services for Stanley Surgnewich were conducted this morning at 10 o'clock from the residence, 107 Big Run street, with Rev. A. Walichiewicz in charge. Rev. Walichiewicz also conducted the committal service at the grave in Holy Trinity cemetery.

Pallbearers were William Kleban, Victor Surgieniewicz, Constantine Szeszko, William Biej, Louis Szeszko and Vince Klejnoski.

Mrs. Mayne Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Brenneman Mayne were conducted from the late residence, Mercer R. D. 2, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. R. K. Rumbaugh, pastor of the White Chapel Methodist church, in charge, assisted by Rev. William A. Lloyd, pastor of the Leesburg Presbyterain church. They read a hymn, "Abide With Me", and two poems, "Old Friends" and "Resigned".

Pallbearers were James R. Patterson, Stephen Lukacs, William Woods, Elmer Humphrey, Clarence Humphrey and Ernest Woods.

Interment was in Carpenter cemetery.

ous points along the road and at each entrance to the seven tunnels to permit the viewers to inspect the highway.

At last night's dinner, Thomas H. MacDonald, federal roads commissioner, urged extension of the four-lane express road eastward and asserted it would be a "great step in linking the populous areas of Pittsburgh, Harrisburg and Philadelphia".

Other guests included Pennsylvania's two U. S. senators, James J. Davis (R), and Joseph F. Guffey (D); U. S. Sen. Sheridan Downey (D) Calif., Brig. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, Washington, personal representative of Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, and John Carmody, federal works administrator.

Senator Davis described the road as the "seventh wonder of the United States" and declared it was the "greatest highway in the country". He urged extension of the route to Philadelphia, Washington, Gettysburg and other points.

General Devers said he would probably make an official report to the war department after inspecting the highway.

FAITH

Happy and proud is the community whose citizens are blessed with a spirit of co-operation for the common good; whose citizens show appreciation for one another, and who do not think that the homes and business and activities of some other city are better than their home, where members work together for the good of each other and pay their debt of gratitude that they owe one another. Be friends, make friends and have friends.

The village of Downe, fourteen miles from London, has neither gas, nor electricity, no drainage, no doctor, no movies, no street car.

MARGARET SHAFFER WEDS LESTER HAMMOND

Saturday evening on the beautiful lawn of the Merritt Hammond home at New Castle, R. D. 5, Miss Margaret Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Holland Shaffer, of the West Pittsburg road, became the bride of Lester Hammond, son of Mr .and Mrs. M. Hammond.

The vows were exchanged at 6 o'clock before immediate families with Rev. Reed Walker of Franklin, officiating.

Charles Shaffer of Pittsburgh, brother of the bride, sang two numbers, "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly," during the ceremy.

The bride was lovely in her toe length gown of white lace over net with a tierra of rosebuds in her hair. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of gladioli in pastel colors.

She chose Miss Virginia Metz, of Mt. Jackson as her maid of honor. She was attired in blue lace and her bouquet was of pink roses.

Francis Kenny of Enon Valley served the groom as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for 35 guests with sisters of the bride, Elizabeth Shaffer and Mrs. E. C. Swogger, serving as aides.

The couple left late in the evening for a wedding trip to cean City, N. J., and upon their return will be at home at New Castle R. D. 5. For travel the bride chose a gray ensemble with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Mt. Jackson high school and is employed by the Shenango Pottery. Mr. Hammond attended the New Castle Senior high school and is affiliated with the Bailey Service Station.

JOINT PICNIC EVENT AT HANNA RESIDENCE

An enjoyable outing was held at the William Hanna residence on King avenue, Friday night, when the Robert Blum Lodge No. 466, Knights of Pythians, entertained at a corn and wiener roast. They had as special guests, the Castle Temple No. 37, Pythian Sisters.

At an early hour, the round of fun was in progress, with the preparation of an appetizing menu of corn and wieners being carried out by the committee in charge. Upwards of forty participated on this occasion.

Corn And Wiener Roast

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCormick, 930 Franklin avenue, was the scene of a merry gathering Saturday evening when they entertained friends and relatives, numbering 35, at a corn and wiener roast.

Games and cards were the chief pastimes of the evening with prizes being awarded to the various winners.

MEN'S GARDEN CLUB CORN ROAST PLANS

In case of rain, Tuesday evening, the Men's Garden club corn roast, to be held at the home of Charles and S. A. Black, East Brook, will be held Thursday evening.

The corn roast has been scheduled for Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. These events are usually postponed just one day in case of rain, but this year, would be postponed two days because of the Sankey anniversary celebration at the Cathedral Wednesday night.

The Men's Garden club will sponsor its annual flower show on September 15 at the Lawrence Auto sales room. The following committee has been named to have charge of this: chairman, William C. Williams; co-chairman, Robert Weingartner, and Charles G. Lindner. This show, free to the public, is open to exhibitors whether or not they are a member of any garden club.

MADONNA CHURCH IS WEDDING SCENE

Miss Frances Mrozek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mrozek of 6 Walter street, and Fred Covelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Covelli of 92 South Lee avenue, were united in holy wedlock Saturday morning, Aug. 24.

The Rev. Fr. E. R. Szelong officiated at the double ring ceremony at eight in the Madonna church, Oakland, before the altar, which was affixed with cut flowers and ferns. Guests numbering 50, which included only members of the immediate families, witnessed the wedding.

The bride was pretty in a white satin gown, with a train and Queen Anne's collar and a finger-tip tulle veil caught at the hair with a queen's crown. She carried a colonial bouquet of white baby asters and bride's roses, graced with baby satin streamers. Her maid of honor was her girlhood friend, Frances Glasser, who wore a brocaded poudre blue taffeta gown with a similar crown. Her corresponding colonial bouquet was of mixed blooms.

Michael Covelli, brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride's mother wore a yellow print crepe dress with poudre blue accompaniments and a shoulder corsage of gardenias. The mother of the bridegroom wore a poudre blue lace gown with white accessories and a similar corsage.

Following the wedding there was a breakfast party in the Mrozek residence, and the couple were also honored guests at a dinner and reception during the evening hours.

The couple left for a week's motor trip, destination unknown, and will take up residence in a newly furnished apartment on Atlantic avenue upon returning.

Mrs. Covelli is a member of the class of '36 of the Union township high school. The bridegroom is a member of the class of '35, local high school, and is an employee of the Pennsylvania Power company.

Kocher Reunion

The 18th annual Kocher reunion was held on Saturday at Ewing Park, Ellwood City, with over 115 persons present.

Dinner was served at 1 o'clock by a committee composed of Mrs. Roscoe Kocher, Mrs. Claire Kocher, Mrs. Margaret Kocher and Mrs. E. Gregg.

During the afternoon, sports and games were enjoyed with Ella Garwig, Ruthine Kocher, Alice Krause and Willard Stout in charge.

A short business meeting was conducted with the following officers being elected for the coming year: President, Elmer Gross; secretary and treasurer, Ruthine Kocher.

Guests were present from Grove City, Duquesne, Erie, Zelienople, and New Castle.

The 1941 reunion will be held at Ewing Park on the last Saturday of August.

Honored At Shower

Honoring Mrs. Lester Hammond, nee Margaret Shaffer, a bride of Saturday, Mrs. James Shaffer and Mrs. Louis Shaffer entertained at a shower recently in the latter's New Wilmington road home.

Two tables of bridge provided diversion, after which a tempting menu was served.

The honoree received an array of lovely gifts for use in her new home.

Women's Label League

Women's Union Label league members will meet Tuesday evening in the Trades and Labor assembly hall, East Washington street and Croton avenue, the regular meeting to be followed by a social hour for members and their guests. Mrs. Susan Oberlightner is the chairlady.

WITHIN A SINGLE YEAR

A YEAR ago the world was stunned by the news that Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia had signed a ten-year non-aggression pact. Hitler, who long had posed as the arch foe of Communism and was the founder of the Anti-Comintern Pact, no longer had two major powers as potential enemies. He was now free to run a wild course in Central and Eastern Europe, though there were obvious reservations as to the Balkans.

From that moment the invasion of Poland was as certain as the rising of the next day's sun. Just ten days later it began, and two days subsequently Britain and France were at war with Hitler's Germany.

Then was all prophecy vain. Jeers of deepest contempt would have greeted prediction that a single swing of Mother Earth about her orbit would find the Third Republic vanished, France two-thirds occupied with her Channel and Atlantic coasts in the hands of the dictator and the "tight little isle" beleagured. The impossible has happened.

So begins another year, a year in which the Western Hemisphere is arming for defense. It is a year in which German military power at the outset is widely spread out, in which rancor is cherished against the conqueror in many lands, a year of which the first half threatens famine in Europe and starvation to millions. Pendulums do swing back. Napoleon had his retreat from Moscow, his Elba, his Waterloo. What will Hitler's balance sheet show a year from today?

HE WROTE 'CASEY AT THE BAT'

It was De Wolf Hopper, who made almost a career out of reciting the verses, and not its author, Ernest Lawrence Thayer, who was principally identified in the public mind with "Casey at the Bat." In fact, Mr. Thayer, who died the other day at the age of 77, regarded the work as of little importance when he first published it. But he lived to see it accepted as the epic poem of America's national pastime.

Hopper accidentally hit upon "Casey" when the musical comedy company with which he was performing held a special "baseball night." His recitation made it famous overnight, and it became something of an old man of the sea for the actor. He could never get away from it. He was called upon to render it some 15,000 times.

Another little-known character identified with the poem is the original "Casey," Daniel M., who is still alive and kicking. The story goes that Dan was a pitcher for the Phillies back in the dim past when they were pennant contenders. He managed to hit a lucky home-run one day, and when he came to bat in a tight pinch shortly afterward, in the ninth inning, two out and the bases loaded, the crowd, including Mr. Thayer, called upon him to repeat.

As everyone knows, the mighty Casey struck out, but his failure, much more than any four-bagger would ever have done, has been immortalized in ringing stanzas that are part of the folk-lore of baseball.

NO BRITISH-U. S. ALLIANCE

The British Foreign Office has served Britain's interests and those of the United States by its swift and unqualified repudiation of reports that Great Britain is seeking an alliance with the United States. The reports, an official spokesman says, are "absolutely without foundation of any sort or kind and are categorically denied."

Exactly the opposite effect of that intended would be produced if Britain were to strive, either through direct or through insidious means, to bring the United States into war. Estrangement would result and there would automatically be an interruption, if not a complete abandonment, of the important aid which is now being given Britain within the limitations of the Neutrality Act.

Most Americans have by this time formulated a clear and realistic conception of the attitude which this country should take with respect to the war in Europe. They are aware that this nation's security will be impaired seriously and that its economic interests will suffer if Britain goes down in defeat. They are sufficiently discerning to know that it is to this country's advantage to aid Britain's survival.

But this help must be given in a manner consistent with the laws designed to preserve United States neutrality. If this is so, America has no right even to consider an alliance with Britain, and the idea, if suggested in a formal way, would probably meet with indignant rejection. This nation's course in the future must continue to be what it has been in the past, one of preparation for war while striving through every means at its command to avoid such a tragic development.

OLD SCORES

Something like a reign of terror seems in store for those in charge of the destinies of France from long before the beginning of war with Germany until the collapse in June. The supreme court set up by the government of General Petain to try former Premiers Deladier, Reynaud, Blum, General Gamelin and others, with prospects of going back something like a decade, has begun its "deliberations."

Apparently the court will be actuated on the dual principle that those are criminals who failed to put France on a basis where she would be able to cope with rearmed Germany, and that those, too, are criminals who countenanced war in any event on Hitler.

The current trials and the spirit behind them are understandable only in the realization that this is not a sovereign, but a conquered, France, two-thirds occupied by the invader. It is a France still in the breathing space of an armistice and yet to learn how terrible may be the peace terms of Hitler.

From this distance these trials are discerned as a quickly improvised means for wiping out old scores. These are just as much Hitler's old scores against French statesmanship from 1933 on as they are those of the hard-boiled crowd now ruling the remnants of what was the Third Republic. They will be conducted under the watchful eyes of the conquerors, and their ruthlessness may take on a form of appeasement in advance of the peace treaty.

Mexico is trying to keep arms out of that country. The Mexicans should have thought of that before the presidential election.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

COLLEGE TAKES MONEY AND BRAINS

When I consider the thousands of young men and women going to college this fall, I must think of the many among them who don't really want to go but are sent. In contrast, I must also think, and with more feeling, of the thousands of other youths, bright youths, who would like so much to go to college but cannot for want of money.

Excepting in a night college, it is practically impossible today for a young man or woman to earn his or her way through college while in college, with less than half the regular college cost available; and it is harder for the girl than the boy, as a rule.

I once visited a fine, high-grade college which covers the first two college years (junior college) to enter which a student must not only have ranked in the upper third of his class in high school but must also be "poor." Yet he must have at least two hundred dollers cash a year at his command and be willing to-work-to-earn several hours a day.

Money Or Mentality?

Although it is growing harder and harder year by year to qualify scholastically in order to enter a first-class college, it is easier to enter a great many colleges without brains than without money. Certainly a good many young men and women do go to college with more money than mentality.

Ability to enter college is largely dependent on family finances. Studies of the American Youth Commission in Pennsylvania and elsewhere indicate that only about half the high school graduates of America with unusual ability, actually go to college. In other words, half the brightest youth of America are either too poor to go to college, merely think they are, or don't care. Only a few of this half, perhaps, "don't care." More merely "think they are too poor," but most actually "are too poor." Some who push the wheelbarrow or peel potatoes ought to be in college and some in college had better be pushing a wheelbarrow or peeling potatoes.

It was very painful to me to have to answer in the negative the deserving young woman who wrote the following letter:

"Dear Dr. Myers: I crave a college education but I cannot meet the necessary expenses.

"At present I am working on N. Y. A. while Mother, a widow, is sewing on W. P. A. Even our combined income has not permitted any savings. Thus I cannot get financial aid from home.

"Do you know of any institution where I could work my way through? I rank in the upper one-third of the graduating class and I am most willing to work faithfully at school and at work."

Education For The Deserving

Through sufficient search, a place might be found for this deserving girl to work her way through college, but not for the thousands of other deserving youths like her.

How far should the public go in providing higher education for all bright, industrious youth at public expense? Should it be the public junior college, for two years? Should it be four years of college? Of course, some citizens with ample private funds, believe the senior high school should charge tuition. But what about the apparent economic value of brains and their development to a democracy?

Suppose, however, all the bright youths of America went to college. Then if college graduates continued to aspire only to the white collar jobs where would we get brainy people enough to do all the other essential jobs? If college education more often helped to dignify labor with the hands as well as head, the public might grow more ready to provide opportunities to attend college for all who have superior mentality. What do you think about it?

I still have some book lists about college.

An actress made a bathing suit out of handkerchiefs. Of course, she used more than one little handkerchief.

One thing for the thinking voters to remember: Don't take too seriously the lovely crooning of ghost-written speeches you will hear on fireside chats this fall. Sitting in a room in shirt sleeves talking is far different than standing and facing an audience of several thousand people.

There is current too doggone much talk of war and darkness and not enough said of the peace and light that is ours.

QUITE POSSIBLE

"You claim you recognize this handkerchief as part of the stolen property?" asked the defense attorney of the prosecuting witness.

"I do," said the witness.

"Yet," said the lawyer, impressively, "I have one exactly like it in my pocket."

"Very likely you have," said the witness. "There were two of them stolen."

There are two things that are dangerous to do. One is fighting in a war and the other is making love to another man's wife.

OF COURSE

"You say you want $20 a week to cook for three persons," the housewife said to the applicant. "But you see there are just my husband and myself to cook for. Surely you should charge less to cook for two."

"But when I am here there'll be three," said the cook with inexorable logic.

PROPHETIC

The missionary had just arrived on the cannibal island and was greeted by the chief. Then he went home and talked things over with his wife.

"Do you know, dear," he said. "That chief talked rather funny when he greeted me at the boat a while ago."

"I thouht he spoke very nicely," said the wife.

"It sounded all right at first," said the missionary. "But did you notice that when he invited me over for dinner and I said it would be a great pleasure he looked me over and said he thought the pleasure would be all his?"

"For nine years I have had an 'understanding' with a man ten years my senior that I will wait for him until he is able to establish a home. Yet he has never given me a ring or consented to my announcing our engagement. He has a fairly good salary which he says is expended in the support of his mother. What do you advise me to do?"

To this plaintive note in today's mail—stating a problem faced today by thousands of unfort'nate women—my advise is:

Accept the attentions of other men if they are really worthy. This will bring to an issue your association with the man who thinks he has a claim on you. Then, if you still love him enough, tell him you will marry him and share his present fortunes. If you do not love him that much continue to encourage the attentons of someone whom you could love and who is in a position to support you immediately. If there is no other potential suitor on the horizon, it would be well to move to another community if you can do so conveniently. Sometimes a change of environment brings a change of luck.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: When someone calls me on the telephone for a lengthy chat and I have a visitor, how may I politely shorten the conversation? —Jane.

Answer: Should the caller ask if you are busy, reply: "No, but Mary is here visiting me" which should give the caller a hint that you must get back to your guest. If she disregards such a hint and goes into a long harangue, say: "Suppose I call you tomorrow. Mary is waiting for me."

Prolonged telephone conversations in the presence of visitors are very impolite.

Question: Please offer some suggestions for tea menus. D. M.

Answer: Tea menus should be limited to food that can be eaten by hand—small sandwiches, small cakes, tea, coffee or other beverages. Refreshments requiring forks should be served only at receptions, dinners or luncheons.

Uncle Sam Is Left Out On Limb
Shanghai Situation Is Perilous
History Of City Gives Background

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Recent withdrawal of Britain's small force of troops from the international port of Shanghai leaves Uncle Sam's outfit there at the extreme end of a none too reliable limb, at the other extremity of which the Japanese are sawing industriously.

The understand the Shanghai situation one has to have visited the place, which comparatively few Americans have done.

Originally, however, it was purely a Chinese city. It wasn't very important as such, either. But many years ago, when foreigners were trying to get into the back country for trading purposes, they hit on it as the most convenient spot on the eastern Asiatic coast to operate from. Big ships can get up its very waterfront on the Whangpoo river, near the point where it empties into the Yangtse, a stream comparable, for size, to the Mississippi.

The Crinese government of that day had no objection to the "foreign devils," as businessmen, but it didn't want to be bothered with their local affairs, in the area they sought to establish as their headquarters.

To dodge this nuisance the government granted to each important Occidental nationality, and to the Japanese, a small territorial concession, just adjoining the native city of Shanghai. It was agreed that the respective nationalities should do their own policing, run their own courts, and shoulder all their own concession-wide responsibilities. By treaty, the American concession, for instance, became as much American soil as Broadway is.

Concessions Are Internationalized

Presently a big rebellion broke out in southern China and the rebels started to march on Shanghai. They never got there, but the foreigners, alarmed, formed a defensive partnership. The French didn't join it. Their settlement remained independent, but the others internationalized themselves.

They had an international city council, an international police force and all the additional adjuncts of a regular municipal government.

Yet, they didn't completely commingle. Illustratively, Uncle Sam maintained a United States court connected with his consulate. If two Americans became involved in a litigation, that court tried it. If an American committed some offense, the international police arrested him, but immediately turned him over to his own consul and the United States court dealt with him.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LET THEM PROFIT

The constant talk about unemployment is in common parlance "the cat's whiskers". In the days before the Roosevelt regime, men were encouraged to make money, to save money and to invest money in profitable enterprises. There were, to be sure, times when there was unemployment and we as a people called them "Panics"—temporary Depressions, and we made the best of it. Private charity took care of the situation and eventually conditions came back to normal and the nation made another step forward in industrial and economic progress.

There has been very little industrial and economic progress during the last seven years. Why? Because those in power in Washington did everything possible to give the men engaged in profitable enterprises as many "black eyes" as possible. The successful manufacturer was called an "economic royalist" and at the same time the Powers in Washington were criticising the "economic royalists" for not putting more men to work.

The mainspring of all progress is profit. A Socialistic nation, like Russia, can never give its citizens the good things of life—the things of which every American boasts and it is because no Russian can profit except the few over-Lords surrounding the chief Dictator, Mr. Stalin. No American has ever made money in business without helping many other Americans to make money. The officers and directors of great corporations of this Nation that have made money and earned money for their stockholders have been given the epithet "economic royalists"—just for enabling countless citizens to make large sums of money for themselves. Think of how many fortunes have been made in the steel business, in the copper business, in the automobile business, in the oil business—all the great businesses of this country, and think of the very prosperous condition of the workingmen who have spent their work days in the employ of these corporations. And so I say that this unemployment business gives me "a pain in the neck" for I know if business was let alone—given half a chance, every man Jack in the nation that was worth his salt would be at work.

The Great Game Of Politics

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright, 1940)

Politics And The Crisis

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.

IN the campaign to re-elect Mr. Roosevelt four years ago a really extraordinary political feat was accomplished which netted him several millions of votes in States where they counted most. From time to time this has been referred to in this column because, while the public generally did not fully grasp its significance, every practical politician in the country did.

IT consisted in the transfer from the Republican party to Mr. Roosevelt of about ninety-six per cent. of the former's basic asset—to wit: the huge Negro vote in the debatable States of the North—while at the same time holding intact the Solid South, where, one way or another, the Negro is not allowed to vote. It is not necessary to repeat the story of how this was achieved, but the small group of men who, with full co-operation of Mr. Roosevelt and the immense aid of the WPA, brought about this coup still consider it the smartest piece of politics played in America—up to this time.

IN 1938 the Negroes partially swung back. This year there are indications that the swing will be accelerated and the bulk of the Negroes recaptured by the Republicans. There is not space to go into the reasons for this but the signs are unmistakable. One of the clearest is the coming out last week, against the third term, of the Pittsburgh Courier, an exceedingly influential Negro newspaper, published by Robert Vann, who flamingly supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936 and contributed as much as any one to turning the Negroes toward him.

FULLY aware that the 1936 feat cannot be duplicated the New Deal managers are concentrating upon their 1940 strategy which becomes clearer every day. It can be stated briefly as an organized effort to convince the people that, because of the war abroad and the defense program at home, no man save Mr. Roosevelt is fit to govern the country and that any discussion of the Administration record and the third-term issue is trivial, out of place—even unpatriotic. This is the heart of the Roosevelt campaign this time. Around it the whole third-term fight is draped.

IN this strategy, as in the strategy of taking over the Negroes in 1936, Mr. Roosevelt is whole-heartedly cooperating. What it amounts to is a calculated use of the international crisis for domestic political purposes. Mr. Roosevelt's role is to pose as too deeply immersed in the grave problems of the Presidency to make a campaign or give any thought to politics. Actually, he is in constant conference with his political aides and has been personally sending for and seeing State and city politicians. To pretend that he is not concerned with politics is an obvious and provable piece of fakery. To believe that a man in the position in which Mr. Roosevelt has gotten himself is not concerned with his own campaign just does not make sense.

THE truth, of course, is that nothing is being done for him politically of which he is not fully aware and approves; that details as well as policy are discussed with him; that he is in his own campaign up to his neck; that the vital part of his campaign is to convey the public impression that he is far too busy to think about politics. Behind this pose of aloofness his spokesmen and managers are using the international situation in every possible way to promote his chances. It is the great excuse, the adopted alibi. An example of this was given last

Asserts History Is Repeating Itself In European Conflict

Economic Plight Of Europe Is Likened To That In 1871 When France Fell

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Aug. 26—The present economic conflict in Europe is simply a case of history repeating itself, according to Professor Biagio DiVenuti Boston University who suggested use of gold stored in this country as a possible element in keeping the western hemisphere banded together.

From an economical point of view Professor DiVenuti said, the gold problem, which has only developed in the past few years, but is now reaching a critical stage, will have to be solved soon, especially in the light of Germany's future economic policy.

The gold, if the professor's suggestion is followed, would be used to establish credits for the South American countries, in this country which would take up the trade gap caused by the European War, and bring a better understanding between Western Hemisphere countries.

Contrasts Europe's Plight

The economic plight of Europe he said is similar to that of almost 70 years ago when Prussia's Bismarck conquered France and inflicted a billion dollar indemnity on the French people and discussed the parallel course being taken by Hitler.

Professor DiVenuti said: "Then as now, German industry and commerce began to expand to such proportions that new outlets were deemed necessary for the preservation of new German economic principles. Her colonial policy called for an empire as large as that of England, and she succeeded in the space of 40 years to become the keenest rival to Britain which eventually culminated in the World War. Losing the war was apparently a bitter blow to merchants and manufacturers bent on reaping a harvest from foreign markets.

"Today the same appears to hold true. Germany has markets in South America and other parts of the world which she has been obliged to keep at all costs. Whether she will or not in the future depends upon the ability of England to stop her enormous war machine and upon the United States pushing trading possibilities with South American countries."

week by Mr. Ickes, in his reply to Mr. Willkie's invitation to the President to debate jointly with him, when he said that Mr. Roosevelt could not "adjourn the Battle of Britain" to accommodate Mr. Willkie.

THAT, of course, was complete bunk but if the idea can be made to stick it will be of immense advantage to Mr. Roosevelt. It will relieve him of the necessity of making any personal defense of his attempt for a third term which, in view of the known facts about his nomination, is no easy defense to make. It will relieve him, too, of any necessity to discuss taxes, or debts, or unemployment, or the mess into which the Federal finances have gotten, or the theory of the Indispensable Man which he has promulgated, or the New Deal failures or his extraordinary omission, in both platform and speech of acceptance, to so much as mention the national budget.

IN FACT, it will relieve him of everything of an embarrassing nature and enable him to put his opponent in the position of harassing, in a time of acute national emergency, a noble man, "drafted" against his will to meet the needs of the nation and ready to sacrifice himself for the welfare of the country. It is a fine plan if it works, but it assumes an almost incredible degree of stupidity upon the part of the people. It also assumes complete ineptitude upon the part of his opponent. In the light of the facts, if the third termers can get away with their 1940 strategy it will be a far smarter piece of politics than the 1936 game with the Negroes.

ALSO, it will be one of the greatest pieces of false pretense and humbuggery ever heard of. Of course, the really serious thing is that in an extremely critical period it smears our whole foreign policy, including the defense program, with the suspicion of politics. There has never been a time when the conduct of our foreign affairs ought to be as free from such suspicions as now. But the third term candidacy has made these suspicions inevitable and the facts give foundation for them. All of which was pointed out to Mr. Roosevelt before the Chicago convention by various thoughtful and friendly disposed persons who hoped that, for his own sake and that of the country, he would refuse to run again.

Coal Prospector Finds Lead Vein

Discovery Is Made With Homemade Rig In Indiana District

(International News Service)

BLOOMFIELD, Ind., Aug. 26—A large vein of practically pure lead had been discovered in the hills of Green county near here by a coal prospector drilling with a homemade rig.

The find was made public after examination of samples by the state geology department revealed that the ore tests 90 per cent pure, making it the richest deposit in the state and one of the most valuable in the nation.

Discovery of the lead came as a startling surprise while Robert Daily and a companion were drilling for coal in an abandoned stone quarry. The 28-inch vein was struck at a depth of 71 feet. The vein is not only large as lead veins go, but it is unusually wide for so rich a deposit.

Farmers Lease Land

With many major mining companies from all over the United States negotiating for rights to mine the deposit and with "claim jumpers" already attempting to get hold of the valuable ground, twelve farmers in the vicinity of the discovery have signed a pact agreeing to lease their land to the same company and to wait until a two-thirds agreement of the group is obtained before leasing.

Dailey, who cannot finance operation of the mine and who plans to lease the land for a percentage of the profits, recalled that in his early childhood he had heard legends of rich lead lodes and secret mines in the neighborhood, but his is the first actual discovery of such a deposit.

What's What At A Glance

Ditto the various other nationalities.

On the strength of its commercial consequence the city became tremendously important — the main gateway into interior China. It grew to approximately the size of Chicago and was built up nearly as handsomely.

The British, being in a majority, generally controlled the city council and did most of the policing, but they didn't abuse these advantages.

Things were pretty harmonious.

Chinese Somewhat Jealous

With Shanghai's growth the Chinese grew somewhat jealous of it. They especially complained that, when they had a rebellion and licked it, the chief rebels invariably, refused to surrender them. The settlement, though, paid small attention to these murmurings.

But now the Japanese propose to gobble the place bodily.

The Germans lost out there during the first World War. The Japs may not be able to squelch the upcountry Chinese, but they can and do dominate the Chinese native city of Shanghai. France having succumbed at home, under the Nazi invasion, no longer can defend the French Shanghai concession. Russia's too far away to signify. Italy's hasn't a Shanghai force worth mentioning. And at last Britain's pulling out due to pressure on John Bull elsewhere.

1,200 U. S. Marines

About 1,200 United States marines remain as the Occident's sole defense against a Japanese grab of international Shanghai—and international Shanghai belongs to Uncle Sam as much as it belongs to anybody. If the Japs grab it, they grab it from HIM incidentally.

It not only promises to be an affront—it's a fierce jab at American trade in China.

It will be quite a dose if Uncle Samuel has to close up his United States court on the Whangpoo riverfront and bring his judge and miscellaneous judicial functionaries back home because the mikado tells him to.

But what are 1,200 marines going to do about it?

Guard Against Sabatoge Efforts At Panama Canal

(International News Service)

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Aug. 26—Agreeing that the greatest danger to the Panama Canal today is sabotage within the vital waterway, authorities here have increased vigilance over all transiting vessels by doubling the United States Army transit guard.

This guard, which keeps an eye on all vital points of ships, was instituted a year ago and at that time consisted of seven men. A few months ago the number was increased to 13, and last week the number was increased to 25.

The transit guard boards all ships at either the port of Balboa or the port of Cristobal. The group is heavily armed with pistols, riot guns, shotguns, and clubs, and the orders to "shoot to kill," if necessary.

The men carry their own telephone communications for use throughout the vessel in order that they may be entirely independent of any of the ship's facilities. The soldiers take positions beside the captain and pilot, on the bridge, forward and aft, in the engineer's quarters and other strategic sections. So rigid are Army regulations with regard to the transit guards entrusted with preventing any attempt to damage the Canal that strict orders have been issued to the men that they must neither eat any food nor drink any fluid offered them aboard ship. This, of course, is to prevent any attempt to poison the vigilantes.

Prepare For Huge Crowd Wednesday At Sankey Tribute

The management of the Scottish Rite Cathedral are doing everything within their power to take care of the people who are expected to attend the Sankey Centenary Memorial service next Wednesday evening at 8 p. m., August 28th.

Their efficient Service Division composed of fifty experienced ushers, headed by Messrs. John H. Templeton and Harry Pearce, have been asked to take charge that evening in order that everybody will be comfortably seated.

In the old days Moody and Sankey used to fill the churches to capacity, and they always had overflow meetings in nearby churches reserved for that purpose.

The Moody Monthly Magazine, published by the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, has designated the August issue "The Sankey Number." Under editorial notes we are told that Ira D. Sankey was born a hundred years ago this month. The monthly would honor this great gospel singer, and would urge that churches recognize his centenary some time before the year is over. This number brings you helpful material in the articles by Dr. Hugh R. Monro and Rev. William M. Runyan. A Sankey song service would make an attraction for some Sunday evening.

Reverend Runyan under the caption "A Century of Sankey" among other things says: "The man born in Edinburg, Penna., puts notes on paper for his first song composition in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1873. Fellowship with that devout Scotsman and prince of hymn writers Dr. Horatius Bonar, inspired the first effort, "Yet There Is Room," which is No. 642 in Gospel Hymns combined. His second composition was written in Ireland the next year, and to a poem bearing the good Irish name of S. O'Maley Cluff, "For You I Am Praying," No. 589 in the same book.

Sankey required assistance in the field of harmony, and his noblest songs had the affectionate touch of such skilled harmonists as Hubert P. Main, George C. Stebbins, and Daniel B. Towner, but that the imperishable was in those songs is hinted by the use still made of them in distinguished present day hymnals. The hymnbook of the United Methodist Church in England uses six; that of the Church of England (Episcopal), revised in 1938, includes three. The Methodist Hymnal, the repository of song of the recently united Methodist Church in America, has two.

When Mr. Moody went to his heavenly crowning in December of 1899, Mr. Sankey wrote both the words and music of a tribute song, "Out of the Shadows into the Sunshine," which he sang at a great memorial service in Carnegie Hall in New York City.

Mr. F. B. Sankey,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I received a letter from Judge W. Walter Braham a few days ago asking me to write you about my meeting with your cousin Ira D. Sankey in London, England, when I was a boy many years ago.

I was born in Scotland 1866, and was brought to London when two years of age. As a boy I had a good soprano voice (since lost) and used to take most of the solo work in our church choir, which was within five minutes walk of the Moody and Sankey tabernacle, Burdett Road, East London. When the churches were gathering a chorus for the meetings, I was chosen as one of them, and attended about all the meetings, sitting in the front row, very near to Mr. Sankey. My memory fails me about the dates (it was so long ago) but I think I was about 11 or 12 years of age (you will know the dates).

Mr. Sankey had the gift of singing the gospel that I in my 74 years, have never heard equaled. I remember the thrill in that large tabernacle when he sang "The Ninety and Nine," "Go Bury Thy Sorrow," "Knocking, Knocking," or "Let Us Scatter Seeds of Kindness," etc., etc. I still have my "Sacred Songs and Solos."

He awoke a passion for sacred music in me that I have never lost, and which proved in latter years to be the means of drawing me back to God when I was the "One out on the hills away, far off from the shepherd's care"

When Mr Sankey returned to London some years later and was at the Stepney Green Tabernacle, I went to hear him again, but my voice had broken, and could not sing any more. But hope to some day when we join in the new song around the throne.

I have been preaching Sankey's gospel over forty-four years and now retired, but still preach wherever I have the opportunity.

Hope this will be of some use in your proposed 100 th anniversary.

Yours fraternally,
ANDREW M TAYLOR.

Trio To Conduct Special Services

The King's Ambassadors, a talented group of three younf ladies, all graduates of the Missionary Training Institute of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will conduct special services in the Hoover Heights Tabernacle, Morris street, South New Castle Boro, tonight and Tuesday night, starting at 7:45 o'clock.

FORMER RESIDENT WEDS IN YOUNGSTOWN

Of interest here is the news of the marriage of Miss Vivian Hogue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Hogue, Chalmers avenue, Youngstown, former residents of this city, and Elton J. O'Connor, son of Mrs. Florence O'Connor and the late Edward E. O'Connor, of Youngstown.

Members of the immediate families witnessed the ceremony which was solemnized before an altar banked with gladiolas and ferns in the Delason Methodist church, Saturday evening, at 6:45 o'clock, with Rev. F. A. Wideman, officiating. The church organist, Mrs. William Walker, played "Because," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "At Dawning," and "I Love You Truly." During the exchange of vows, soft strains of "Oh Promise Me," were heard. Lohengrin's processional and Mendelssohn's recessional were also played.

Miss Betty Hogue, sister of the bride, and Leonard Madison, cousin of the groom, were the attendants.

The bride was attired in a rose lace gown with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of white roses. She wore a gold locket, a gift of the groom. The maid of honor wore blue with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Immediately following the ceremony, the bridal couple departed on a wedding trip.

The bride is a graduate of the Union high school, New Castle, and the groom graduated from the North Lima high school. He is affiliated with the E. E. Emery company, Youngstown. After September 1, Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor will be "at home" in their newly furnished apartment, 911 Parkview avenue, Youngstown.

COURT STREET UNIT WILL MEET TUESDAY

Members of the Court Street Unit of the Epworth Methodist church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ray Bishop of Court street.

Regular business and a social hour will be enjoyed.

MRS. HUBERT SADLER WILL ENTERTAIN UNIT

Mrs. Hubert Sadler will entertain members of the Adams street unit of the Epworth church, Thursday afternoon at a 1 o'clock luncheon.

The luncheon will be served at her residence on Delaware avenue.

Kehres-Richards

Miss Leona Kehres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Kehres, of Shaker Heights, Cleveland, became the bride of Trevor E. Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Richards, of Maryland avenue, at a lovely church wedding on Monday, August 19.

The ceremony was performed in the Christ church in Cleveland, at 8 o'clock, with Rev. S. E. LaFalotte of Canton, O., officiating with the impressive single ring ceremony.

Mrs. Helen Clarke served as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Ruth Richards of Harrisburg and Margie Dalton of Cleveland.

William Kehres, brother of the bride, served as best man, and ushers included Robert Mack and Clyde Fayne of Cleveland.

Supplementing the ceremony a congratulatory period was held at the church with a reception following at the bride's home.

Following a wedding trip to Boston, Mass., the couple will reside in Cleveland.

Attend Shower

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Graham, of Edenburg, attended the shower party held recently at the home of Mrs. John Muller, of Struthers, in honor of the latter's niece, Helen Ford.

Miss Ford will become the bride of Jack Yoern, of Struthers, on September 11. The honoree received a lovely gift in remembrance of the occasion.

MIRIAM WALLACE HONORED AT PARTY

Miss Miriam Wallace, daughter of Mrs. William Wallace, of North Beaver Township, and J. Leroy Forsythe, of Millheim, were again honored at another shower during the week end. The couple will wed on September 14.

Miss Alice Parott and Mrs. Glenn Tindall were co-hostesses at a surburban tea room and guests, numbering 24, attended. Games of cards were enjoyed and at an appointed time, refreshments were served.

In surprise fashion, the couple received an array of lovely household gifts of a miscellaneous nature.

Rice Reunion

Descendants of Samuel and Matilda Rice held their annual reunion at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dufford at Ramblers Rest, Sunday, with 50 persons in attendance.

Afternoon hours were spent in chat and informal diversions, and during the business meeting the following officers were elected: president, Harry G. Boyd; vice president, Lou Hempill; secretary, Kenneth Dufford, and treasurer, Mrs. Earl Dufford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rice of Cleveland were special guests, and other out of town guests were from Akron and Pittsburgh.

The next reunion will be held on the third Sunday of August in 1941.

Birthday Party

Mrs. A. W. Howard of Oak street entertained Saturday evening in honor of the 18th birthday anniversary of her son Donald with 17 guests present.

Dancing and games formed the evening diversions, and at a late hour the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Edward Koonce, served delicious refreshments.

Many handsome gifts of a personal nature were received by Donald.

Colonial Club Event

Associates of the Colonial club held their annual corn and wiener roast at the home of Mrs. Patsy Audino, Arlington avenue, Sunday evening, with husbands as special guests.

Mrs. Marino Aurelli, of Bridgeville, Pa., was an out-of-town guest. An informal social hour was held at 10:30 o'clock with lunch being served at a large table.

Those in charge were Mrs. Louis DeLillo and Mrs. Patsy Audino. On September 5, Mrs. Edward Terrari, of Home street, will be hostess.

B. C. Club

B. C. club members motored to the Schnure farm, near Drapbelt, on Saturday evening and enjoyed a party with families and husbands as special guests.

Dancing was the main diversion and refreshments were served later.

Jolly Twelve

Members of the Jolly Twelve will enjoy a tureen dinner at 12 o'clock on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Albert Leber at New Castle, R. D. 2, with Mrs. Mary Thayer acting as hostess.

J. I. G. Girls

Members of the J. I. G. Girls have motored to Craig's Beach, where they will spend the next two weeks.

The group is composed of Jennie DeCarbo, Lucy Fire, Rose Spinelli, Pauline DeCarbo, Delphine, Ann and Helen Tommellio and Madeline Venditto.

Unique Garden Party At Kirk Home Saturday

Under the stately oaks and elms that dot the grounds of the H. M. Kirk home on Moody avenue, a rather unique garden party was held Saturday night, August 24. It was more than a garden party, it was a pint sized edition of a class reunion, a county fair, and an old time box social rolled into one, tied together through the genius of Leander Kirk, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Approximately 125 were present, most of them garbed in clothes that would stand the wear and tear of the sports that followed lunch. From 6:30 until 10:45 the guests enjoyed the kind of a party that has unfortunately fallen into more or less disuse among the modern pleasure seekers. It was old time fun in a modern setting.

The idea of the party originated in the fertile brain of Leander Kirk, who with his wife and family have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Kirk. The younger Kirk's profession is that of an instructor in a boys' school in South Byfield, Mass.

The musical flavor of the evening had nothing to do with Bach or Brahms. It was provided by Domenic Fantine of Cleveland, an organ grinder and his associate, Monkey Julia. Where a more formal party might have had a group of chamber musicians playing in a bower of shrubbery, this one saw Domenic grinding out tunes that originated in Tin Pan alley and the guests liked them. Monkey Julia provided the comedy for the affair with her monkeyshines.

Shortly after 6:30 the auction of the box lunches took place. Dr. Samuel W. Perry, Jr., tossed aside his stethoscope long enough to fit into the role of an auctioneer and the appeal in his dulcet voice had the guests bidding against each other like a group of antique hunters at a farm auction.

The lunch was eaten at long tables under the trees with colored lights strung through the branches of the trees providing illumination.

The lunch over, the program of sports followed. Darts, a steeplechase, a bag race, a human croquet game, a three-legged race, and a guessing contest filled two hours with a lot of enjoyment.

The steeplechase was for the younger folks and the team captained by Miss Nancy Rugh finished first. In Miss Rugh's team were Beth McAfee, Jack Higgins, Skip Hornicle and Tom Green. The opposing team captained by Jean McIlvaine was composed of Sally Cleland, Bob Hood, Nancy Lenhart and Kate Hornicle.

The three-legged race was won by the team of Tom Green and Nancy Rugh, with George Lamoree and Mrs. J. R. Preston second and Skip Hornicle and Joan Preston third. Others who competed were James Lamoree and Kate Hornicle and Howard Kirk and Kathryn Matheny Kirk.

The winner of the bag race was Tom Green with James Lamoree second and Skip Hornicle third. Others who competed were Nancy Rugh, Kathryn Kirk and J. R. Preston.

The human croquet game was tops for fun insofar as the spectators were concerned. A trifle tough upon the players but the crowd was a game group of spectators. In the game the following acted as wickets: Herbert Kirk, Clyde M. Whittaker, Paul Dingledy, Jack Preston, Howard Kirk, George Lamoree, Kingsley Taft, Joseph Pearson and Dr. David Perry. The balls were Louise Taft, Elsie Matheny, Kathryn Kirk, William Vodrey, Martha Dingledy, Andy Kirk, Jack Higgins, Mrs. Joseph Pearson, Mary Kirk and Regina Popp.

In the garage Miss Mary E. Vandivort conducted the dart game. In an open space on the grounds an "artful dodger" invited the guests to step up and try and hit him, with a cigar going to any one doing so.

The guessing contest was one in which the guests were asked to guess how many grains of corn a rooster would eat. The rooster's appetite fooled most of the guests but not Edward Flaherty, who won the grand prize, a month old kid. To those readers who might get confused as to terms let it be said that a kid is a young goat.

To reiterate, it was an unique party but one that provided genuine pleasure for the guests. The fact that weather felt more like October than August lessened the enjoyment not a whit.

Stickel Reunion

Descendants of Samuel and Matilda Stickel, numbering 60, gathered at Cascade Park Sunday afternoon, August 26, and enjoyed their annual reunion outing, with supper being served during the late afternoon hours.

Officers elected were: Homer Campbell, president; Samuel Gettings, vice president; Mrs. Nellie Cline, secretary; and Mrs. James Holsapfel, treasurer.

Plans were formed for the next reunion to take place at the Park, the last Wednesday of July, 1941.

Entertain Neighbors

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGary, West Washington street extension, entertained their neighbors at a corn and wiener roast at their home Saturday evening.

Games and other informal pastimes were enjoyed by the group.

Fletcher Reunion

At Cascade Park, the descendants of Abraham Fletcher will have their annual reunion on Saturday, August 31. The gathering will take the form of a basket picnic.

Loyal 12 Club

Mrs. Joseph McCord of Mt. Jackson, will entertain members of the Loyal 12 club on Thursday, September 12.

Apply For License

John Gajda of Volant R. D. and Miss Mary Maslyk of Rigby Post Office have applied for a marriage license at Mercer, Pa.

1923 S. L. Club

Mrs. Charles V. Dean, of East Washington street, will entertain members of the 1923 S. L. club at her home Wednesday evening.

Family Has Outing.

Members of the family of Mrs. Mary Conti, of 404 Wallace avenue, held an outing event, Sunday, at a Pittsburgh park.

While there the group attended the Pittsburgh-Brooklyn ball game, in the afternoon.

A delicious dinner and supper were served to the group with Mrs. Mary Conti in charge of arrangements.

Silver Needle Club

Silver Needle club members breakfasted at Cascade Park, Sunday morning and enjoyed a round of informal pastimes after the serving. Hostesses were Sue Gennock and Mrs. Frances Champ.

There will be a special meeting this evening in the home of Sue Gennock, Home St.

Needlecraft Club

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

R. E. HENDERSON, PRESIDENT

Loans of $9.75 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.97 a month for eighteen months will also repay a $100 loan.

You will note that the sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.58 each, or a total of only $106.32, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full.

Same rate to everyone

Installments shown in the table repay everything. These installments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is substantially less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only this one rate—the same for everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

Simple to borrow

You get your Household Finance loan in a simple, private transaction. We require no stocks or bonds, no salary or wage assignment. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) You are spared the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And no questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives.

Considerate treatment

You may expect every consideration in case of sickness or unemployment while paying on a Household Finance loan. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans. This action was taken only as protection against fraud.

If a loan can help you, phone or visit us for further information. No obligation.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SHYNESS

Shyness in a child is not a normal condition, and shouldn't be too lightly regarded by parents, for it may develop a psychosis that will warp the child's whole life.

It is just as necessary for parents to cultivate a healthy mental outlook in a child as it is to build a strong, healthy body. The two things are so dependent upon each other, so co-related, that where there's a child with a strong, healthy body, we usually find that it has good sturdy, normal mental reactions and equipment. Likewise, when we encounter a girl or a boy isn't bothered with nerves, or inhibitions, we can be certain that she or he is well physically.

If a child develops some physical complaint, such as stomachache, the mother can be expected to call a doctor to investigate and treat the disorder. She is much less likely to be apprehensive if the child suddenly develops shyness, as children often do, but she should be just as alert in checking it. Just as the stomach ache was a warning of physical disorder, so the shyness is a warning that something has happened to the child's proper mental development. Yet probably the majority of mothers and fathers don't regard shyness as any serious thing. "Oh, she'll outgrow it", is a favorite way of dismissing the subject.

Often the child does outgrow this weakness. But, too often, the outgrowing process isn't a success.

Such problems as shyness can be handled as sensibly and as definitely as a cold, or rather, I should say the tendency to catch colds. What you do, in the case of colds, is build up the child's physical condition until he resists colds.

The same thing can be done with the child who has such mental weakness as shyness. The child gets so he doesn't like to play with others; he is embarrassed before strangers. Any attempt to force it to accept human companionship only drives it more and more within itself.

Tomorrow, we'll go into this interesting phase of child development further.

Corn Roast Held By Sons Of Italy

Five Hundred Persons Attend Annual Corn And Wiener Roast Saturday Evening

A record breaking crowd of approximately 500 people attended the annual corn and wiener roast sponsored by the Sons of Italy lodge, on Saturday evening in the club rooms, South Mill street.

Following the serving of a buffet supper at 9:30 o'clock, a program of music and singing was featured. Little Josephine Mazzia favored the assembly with vocal selections, accompanied by a local popular orchestra.

The event was a success due to the work of the following committee: Mrs. John DeLorenzo, assistant chairlady; Mrs. Concettina Colella, Mrs. Clotilda Ross, Mrs. Jennie Sfredda, Mrs. Bridget DeGennaro, Mrs. Teresa Bobbino, Mrs. Mary Marangoni, Mrs. Mary Berardi, Paul Geminiani, Anthony Basile, John Martucci, Patsy Reda, Guy Natale and John Armond. President, Sam Bassano was the supervisor.

On September 6, the next regular meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock, in the lodge rooms.

MOTORIST IS HURT AS CAR LEAVES ROAD

Harry Cracraft, aged 22, of R. F. D. No. 7, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital with a fracture of the right knee cap, received when he lost control of his automobile on the Enon Valley road, two miles from Mt. Jackson, Saturday evening about 9:30 o'clock.

Cracraft was alone in the machine, which struck a spot in the road covered with loose gravel, causing it to skid and overturn.

Population Loss In Three States By New Census

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Three Great Plains states—Oklahamo, South Dakota and Nebraska—lost population in the last ten years, the Census Bureau reported.

Preliminary census figures showed 1940 population of 2,334,437 for Oklahoma, 639,972 for South Dakota and 1,313,468 for Nebraska. The losses were said to have been 2.6 per cent for Oklahoma, 7.6 for South Dakota and 4.7 for Nebraska. The 1930 population for the three states was Oklahoma, 2,396,040; South Dakota, 692,849, and Nebraska, 1,377,963.

Utah, however, was reported to have gained 8 per cent. Its 1940 figure was placed at 548,393. The 1930 population was 507,847.

Officials said they assumed that droughts and duststorms of the mid-30's were factors in the population decline of the mid-western states.

GRANGE NEWS

POMONA GRANGE

Westfield grange will be host to Lawrence County Pomona grange for its regular quarterly meeting on Wednesday, August 28. Special exhibits by the Juvenile granges will be on display and juveniles from seven granges will present a portion of the afternoon program.

The main address of the afternoon will be given by a Pennsylvania state motor patrolman.

The evening session will be held in the auditorium of Mt. Jackson high school when the music contest, sponsored by the Pennsylvania State grange, will open the meeting. Following the contest, the Pomona degree team will confer the fifth degree on a large class of candidates.

Ladies of Westfield grange will serve coffee at the noon hour, grangers providing their own lunches. The evening meal will be served by the ladies in the grange dining room.

Pleasant Valley

Frank Kaufman will have charge of the transportation and Marie Shaw Bartsch, in charge of the table arrangements.

Members of the Pleasant Valley Remembrance association held its tenth annual reunion in the school building on the Mercer road, Neshannock township, recently.

Late in the afternoon, the young people enjoyed a mushball game, with Herman Lenz in charge. Next year it was decided to meet in August, the date to be announced.

At 12:30 o'clock, a delicious dinner was served to guests numbering approximately 43. A program of speakers was also featured. A business session followed, with 75 present and officers were elected. President, Mrs. Nannie Morrissey; vice-president, Mrs. Louise Blake Young; secretary and treasurer, Angeline Cole.

Farming Without Soil Opens A New Field For The Vegetable Industry

A vast new field with untold possibilities exists in the soilless culture of vegetables and its application to the vegetable industry is to be one of the topics of discussion at the annual convention of the Vegetable Growers Association of America, which will be held in Philadelphia August 25 to 29.

Miss Claire Lediard of Red Bank, N. J., is shown above examining some of the tomato plants grown in sand culture in the plant physiology greenhouses at the New Jersey College of Agriculture, Rutgers University.

Farm scientists are watching the development of this new soilless culture with a keen interest as it may be the "farm of the future" for vegetable growers. At the coming convention this will be one of the topics of discussion by the leaders of the vegetable industry.

Motor Travel At Peak In State

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—Motor travel in Pennsylvania has now reached its peak, according to a statement made today by W. Purves Taylor, secretary. Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania, and retail business is profiting largely thereby.

"Increased highway travel is expected to push retail expenditures of tourists to a new high this year," Mr. Taylor predicted. "Last year the retail expenditures of travelers in this state, as estimated by the U. S. Travel Bureau, were approximately $340,000,000, thus providing a powerful stimulant to retail business.

"Automobile ownership in the United States has expanded greatly during the past five years, and there are more than 20,000,000 families—or two in every three families in the entire country—that now own cars. This widespread automobile ownership has made America a mobile nation and has enabled millions of families to travel.

To Tell Kiwanis Of Political Conclaves

Bart Richards, member of The News editorial staff, will discuss the recent Republican and Democratic national conventions before the Kiwanis club at The Castleton Wednesday noon. Richards covered both nominating sessions for The News, and his subject will be "Philadelphia vs. Chicago."

Counting of nomination ballots for the club's annual election September 4 will also take place Wednesday.

Y Conference At Chambersburg

Three Hundred Delegates Expected At Sessions On September 2, 3 And 4

Philo C. Dix, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., expects more than 300 delegates at the annual employed officers' conference of the Y. M. C. A., which is scheduled for Penn Hall, Chambersburg, September 2, 3 and 4.

Dr. Gordon Poteat of Crozer Theological Seminary will be the principal speaker, and will take as his topic for four addresses "Christian Faith and Moral Confusion."

Other outstanding speakers include Milo Henke, boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Syracuse, N. Y.; Earl W. Brandenburg, New York, in charge of the national retirement fund; George T. Hepbron, national chairman of the physical department rules committee, who will speak on Elgibility.

Because of the changing of the Y. M. C. A. program to meet the critical conditions, an important address on "The Place of the Y. M. C. A. in the Campaign for National Preparedness" will be given by Dr. H. W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg College.

Other speakers include E. R. Leibert of the national council, who will help the conference prepare for the centennial observance which is scheduled for 1945, at which time the Y. M. C. A. movement will be 100 years old.

Luther D. Grossman, assistant state supervisor of the W. P. A., will address the conference, as will L. W. DeGast, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Washington, D. C.

TO ATTEND FUNERAL

Body Of Missing Man Now Being Sought In Indiana

Police Report Man Was Slain

Indiana Authorities Assert Confession In Murder Is Made By Hitch-Hikers

ROBBERY MOTIVE FOR CRIME, CLAIM

(International News Service)

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Aug. 26.—The body of Walter Ebeling, manager of a German language motion picture theater in New York City, was sought by police today following the confession of two youthful hitch-hikers that they had killed him during a robbery.

Ebeling's disappearance the night of July 9 last, when he had left South Bend, Ind., by car after visiting friends, had occupied federal, state and local authorities. Ebeling had been known as an anti-Nazi, and it was theorized he might have been kidnaped by political enemies.

In announcing solution of the case, however, State Police Commissioner Donald Stiver stated last night the motive for the killing was robbery alone.

Slaying Confessed

Stiver said the slaying was confessed by Richard Klowetter, 24, of Niles, Mich., and Marvin Kagle, 21 of Palmyra, Ill. The two had been arrested on suspicion after they forced an elderly woman to serve them breakfast.

According to Stiver, the two young gunmen said Ebeling, who was driving alone, gave them a ride early in the morning July 10. They robbed him of $80 and his automobile, shot him, and threw his body into a ditch along the highway near Lafayette, Ind. Officers went to the spot to hunt for the body.

A few days after Ebeling disappeared, a group of small boys found a blood-spattered topcoat, later identified as having been the New Yorker's, along the highway near Lafayette, on Aug. 14. Ebeling's wrecked car was found near Benton, Ill.

Both Klowetter and Kagle have criminal records. Klowetter was sent to prison as a burglar in 1935, and Kagle, sentenced to the Lake Charles, Ill., reformatory in 1937, was paroled in July, 1939.

Judges Finally Agree

ROSEMARY LAPLANCE

California being the land of sunshine and too many beauty contests, found that there were three beauty winners who were supposed to represent California at the forthcoming Miss America beauty pageant at Atlantic City, N. J. So the various judges got in a huddle and officially nominated Rosemary La Planche seen above on the beach near her Los Angeles home.

Record Year For Shipping On Great Lakes Is Forecast

Marine Men Expect Tonnage In 1940 To Surpass Peak Chalked Up In 1929

(International News Service)

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Aug. 26.—With tonnage figures running well ahead of those for recent years, marine men are predicting that an all-time high for inter-Great Lakes shipping may be established this year by freight passing through the Sault Locks from Lake Superior to Lake Huron.

Hiked upward by the passage of 13,841,813 tons during July, the total tonnage for 1940 as of August 1 was 40,825,685. The all-time record, established in the pre-depression year of 1929, was 92,622,017 tons.

Thus, if shipping continues at the July pace through August, September, October and November, a new record is conceivable. If there is to be a new standard, it will probably have to be on the books by December 1, because the St. Mary's river, so-called "bottleneck" of inter-lake commerce, usually freezes over during the first week of the last month.

July Tonnage Third Highest

The July tonnage, of which 10,775,121 tons were iron ore, was the third highest total for that month in 18 years, being exceeded only in 1929 and 1937.

Iron ore shipping for the month exceeded that of June by 966,290 tons and that of July, 1939, by more than 4,000,000 tons.

Shipments of other commodities included 1,627,505 tons of soft coal; 17,371,258 bushels of wheat; 2,607,000 feet of lumber; 6,122 tons of shingles; 90,312 cords of pulpwood; 748,130 barrels of flour; 5,151,216 bushel of grain other than wheat; 10,041 tons of copper; 54,802 tons of scrap iron; 20,511 tons of hard coal; 144,594 tons of petroleum products;; 85,515 tons of stone and gravel; 81,225 tons of general merchandise and 2,324 automobiles.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Endocrinology is the study of the internal secretions.

There are certain tiny ductless glands within the body.

These secrete substances directly in the blood.

The study of their functioning is comparatively recent.

No endocrine gland is ever isolated or independent.

It is a varied and complex interrelationship.

These gladns act and react on one another and the whole body.

Though tiny, such glands exert great functional importance.

Biochemists have lately extracted substances from these glands.

Effective replacement treatment is thereby provided.

Thyroid disorders and pituitary deficiencies are benefited.

Glandular dysfunctions are now treated by endocrinologists.

Italian Methodist Church Will Picnic

Italian Methodist church members will make the Park the scene of their annual supper outing Tuesday evening, August 27, which will include members of the Sunday Bible school, as well as the congregation.

Cars will leave the church at 1:30 and during the pre-serving hours, an interesting program of stunts, sports and entertainment for grown-ups and youngsters will be featured. A tureen supper will be served at 6.

Those on the general committee are N. DiLorenzo, Mrs. F. P. Sulmonetti, Romeo Caldararo, Mrs. N. Altobelli, Joseph Giancola and William Cicone.

86 KILLED, 8390 HURT IN STATE'S INDUSTRIES

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—Accidents in Pennsylvania industry resulted in 86 deaths and 8,390 disabling injuries, according to reports received by the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation during June.

Three cases of permanent loss of use of some member were included, and 140 cases of dismemberment.

The Navy requires three pilots and thirty mechanics for each plane so 50,000 planes mean 150,000 pilots and 1,500,000 crew men. What factory is producing them?

Shoaff Is Given Culver Award

(Special To The News)

CULVER, Ind., Aug. 26.—Paris Alexander Shoaff, 1045 Highland avenue, New Castle, took another step of achievement at the Culver summer schools last week when he won the Silver Tuxis medal after successfully completing a series of requirements in the various fields of activity in which the students indulge during the summer courses.

Shoaff was a petty officer, first class, in Company III of the naval battalion this summer.

Commencement activities were concluded last week, and another New Castle student who returned was Frederick Gordon Barkby, 217 Hillcrest avenue. He held the rank of sergeant in Division II of the Woodcraft camp.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—President Roosevelt's approval of a $2,676,944 project for improving the new Harrisburg-Pittsburgh turnpike in Pennsylvania was announced by the WPA.

Under the WPA project plans, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission will put up $540,944, and the Federal government $2,136,000. Object of the improvement work, officials said, was to protect the new super-highway from damage by streams or erosion in Cumberland, Franklin, Fulton, Huntington, Bedford, Somerset and Westmoreland counties. Landscaping and slope protection is included.

Sankey Night Is Observed

Well Known Sankey Hymns Sung At Service At Methodist Church

REV. W. A. THORNTON DELIVERS ADDRESS

The place and importance of sacred music and value of gospel singing formed the theme of the sermon delivered Sunday evening by Rev. W. A. Thornton, pastor of Epworth Methodist church, at the Sankey Night service in the First Methodist church.

The auditorium of the First church was completely filled for this service, one in the series of union services being sponsored by the New Castle Ministerial Association.

Rev. W. V. McLean, pastor of the First Methodist church, had charge of the service and gave the invocation at 7:30 o'clock, followed by the reading of the 146th Psalm by Rev. O. G. Shindledecker, pastor of the Wesley and King's Chapel Methodist churches. Dr. J. J. McIlvaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, led in prayer, after which Rev. Thornton preached the sermon, "The Significance of Sacred Song."

Featuring the musical program were a number of Sankey hymns, including the selection, "For You I Am Praying" by the combined choirs of the First and Epworth churches. "The Ninety and Nine," probably the best known of the Sankey hymns, was sung by a double quartet from both churches. Sankey hymns sung by the congregation were "Faith Is the Victory" and "Under His Wings." Edwin Lewis, organist, and Mrs. J. M. Pyle, pianist, had charge of the music.

This service served as a preliminary in the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Ira D. Sankey, to be held Wednesday evening in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the final union service for this year will be held in the Central Christian church with the pastor, Rev. T. B. Shearer, preaching.

BOY SCOUTS OF NEW CASTLE

SCOUT TROOP 26

Boy Scouts of Troop 26 gathered for their regular meeting Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the Shenango Taylor high school.

Hand drills were practiced with the assistant scoutmaster, Anthony Bulisco in charge. Visitors were present at the meeting and new members were welcomed.

Next week, the troop will be reorganized and officers will be elected. The troop has returned home from camping at Kirk's camp at Walmo, for a week, and will resume their camping on Tuesday, August 27. The troop has received new camping equipment.

A new troop committee was elected: S. C. Clobus, John Walters, Jack Gerson, Edwin C. Wilson.

All scouts planning to go camping are to meet in the summer den, Monday at 1:30 o'clock. Friday, August 30, at 7:30, is the date for the next meeting.

Scribe, Zeny Niekrasz.

Massed Chorus Has Rehearsal Sunday

Prepare For Sankey Meeting—Other Rehearsals Are Also Scheduled

An enthusiastic and responsive group of singers, numbering 165, gathered Sunday afternoon in the First Methodist church for the first rehearsal of the massed chorus to sing Wednesday evening at the Sankey celebration in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Robert Duff acted as director of the group, with Kathryne Nessle Allen and Edwin Lewis as accompanists and Sam Lewis as soloist.

Plans were made at this time for the men singers to wear white shirts and black four-in-hand ties, and the women to wear white or light colored dresses Wednesday evening.

This evening at 8 o'clock, there will be rehearsal at the United Presbyterian church in Ellwood City for singers in that district, and on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, there will be rehearsal at the Methodist church in New Wilmington. On Wednesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock, the combined groups will rehearse at The Cathedral. It is anticipated that a massed chorus of 300 or more will participate Wednesday evening.

The Atlantic and Pacific oceans are spanned by nearly 15,000 miles of submarine cables.

Purse-Snatcher Attempts Theft

Police last night sought a would-be purse-snatcher on the North Hill but failed to apprehend him.

He attempted to seize a pocketbook from Miss K. Snyder, 124½ East North street, at Stewart place and Highland avenue.

The miscreant fled through Stewart place toward East street and made his get-away before police had time to reach the section.

He wore a dark slouch hat and a long dark overcoat, police learned. He was described also as being five feet nine inches tall.

Two In Hospital Following Battle

Henry Hemphel, 43, 1105 South Jefferson street, is a patient in the New Castle hospital, having reportedly sustained a deep cut on his head when he fell after allegedly being struck by Andrew Horvath, 34, of 1810 Moravia street, at Moravia street and Long avenue, Sunday night. Horvath is also in the same hospital, under arrest, with a broken knuckle.

The police version is that Hemphel and a man named "Jimmy Mills" were in a fight and then when Horvath saw blood on "Mills" he struck Hemphel.

Betty: Oh, Archibald, you're so slow.

Archie: I'm afraid I don't grasp you.

Betty: That's just it.

Stomach Upsets Only a Memory

OFFICER S. P. BEELER, Beaver Falls, Penna., says, "I had misery in my stomach almost every day. I'd rift up quantities of gas and hot, sour liquids containing bits of undigested food and had a lump in my throat until Vendol gave the most satisfying relief from constipation, then all these troubles were relieved and I feel grand again."

If you suffer from upset stomach, gas, sourness, belching, "heartburn," so nervous you can't sleep, biliousness, headaches, spots before your eyes, bad complexion, pains in your arms, shoulders, back or limbs and other symptoms when they are due to constipation or need of a mild kidney diuretic, take Vendol and see how quickly this alkaline extract of Roots and Herbs will give relief. All over this state reliable citizens are praising Vendol, so why don't you get this same relief, too?

High Gridders Leave For Camp

Bus With 37 Eager Young Lads On Board Leaves Stadium At 9 O'Clock For Camp

Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning a big bus with 37 eager young football candidates of New Castle High steamed out of New Castle and headed for Muddy Creek Falls, grid camp where for the next several days a lot of tough work faces those aspiring to Red Hurricane berths. Phil H. Bridenbaugh, head coach, was in charge of the football party.

A workout was slated for 10:30 o'clock this morning and another for this afternoon. With only a few days until the opening game the coaches will have to work fast in camp this week.

Rain or shine two workouts are on the card for each day the boys are in camp. There will be plenty of good food for the boys to eat only as Mrs. Helen Hood can cook it. The boys will not go hungry you can bet on that.

There was only a handful of the varsity team of last year on hand today, chief among these being: Larry Roberts, Warren Morgan, Ernie Adamo, Sammy Ciazza, Freddy McKee, Joe Audino, Dick Biddle, Otis Burris, Al Bucci, Ben Izzo, Joe Izzo, Don Jerry and Rags Gennock, and not all of these were regulars last year. There are quite a few places open on the team this year, in fact no place is filled for a certainty.

Sammy Angott, National Boxing association lightweight champ, and Fritzie Zivic, rated No. 1 contender for Henry Armstrong's welterweight crown, are scheduled to fight 10 rounds at Forbes field tonight. The winner will meet Armstrong in late September in the same ring. The gross receipts of tonight's bout is anticipated to reach $30,000. Angott is a 10-to-9 favorite to win.

Johnstown and Butler are deadlocked for the Class D Pennsylvania State Association Baseball league pennant. A flip of a coin will decide where the teams will meet this week to stage the play-off for the flag.

More than 100 amateurs have been entered in the Pennsylvania State Amateur boxing championships which will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Greensburg.

Seven events are listed for the Altoona Speedway, Labor Day. Leading drivers have entered, among them Wilbur Saw. Joie Chitwood, Indian driver who holds the qualifying speed record at the track, also will race.

Tuesday will be the last day entries may be accepted for the Horseshoe tournament at Gaston Park. Entries should be handed in today and not later than tomorrow to playground leaders according to Mike Turco.

Twenty-Third P. G. A. tourney qualifying round got under way at the Hershey, Pa. Country club, today.

Jack Gramer, Montabello, Cal., and Ted Schroeder, Los Angeles, won the national doubles net crown at Brookline, Mass., Sunday by beating Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables and Henry Prusoff of Seattle, 6-4, 8-6, 9-7.

Colored Track Meet Success, West Side Wins

Score Is 72 To 62 In Booker T. Washington Meet Held On Saturday

The first all-colored track and field meet in the history of New Castle was held Saturday at the Booker T. Washington Field with the West Side team taking the honors over the South Side 72 to 62.

High individual scorer was Donold Young, New Castle High star with 23 points, he received a fine prize donated by Gus Slovonsky. Second high scorer was Joe Clemons of Ben Franklin High with 17 points. A lot of promising material for the New Castle high track team was uncovered.

James Alexander set a Booker T. Washington field record with a broad jump of 19 feet. Harrison Hammock former Willard, O., track star thrilled the crowd with a high jump of five feet six inches. The most thrilling race in the meet was the one-half mile relay with the West Side team winning after "Boogey" Dhrer dropped his baton. The meet was staged and supervised by Walter B. Smith, who deserves a lot of credit for his untiring efforts in making the venture the success that it was.

Church League Title At Stake

The New Castle church softball championship series will start Tuesday night at the Mahoningtown field with the Third U. P. playing the Mahoning Methodists. The game will start at 6 o'clock. Each team must furnish an umpire. The second game will be played at Rose Avenue Thursday night.

A toss of the coin will determine the site of the third game of the series if one is necessary. A new handsome four-year trophy will be the prize this year. The trophy is over 20 inches high.

WILL PLAY TONIGHT

Weather permitting, the B. T. W. colored softball team will play the Sunnies a class B league game at the B. T. W. field at 6 o'clock tonight. Recently the B. T. W. team won forfeits from the Fleetwings and North Hill A. C.

All-Stars Win Red Cross Game Here Saturday

Score Is 18 To 7 Over Rieck Old Timers In Game That Drew Over 1,000 Fans

MEMORIAL SERVICE PROVES IMPRESSIVE

With over 1,000 fans looking on under a warm sun at Elder's field Saturday the City League All-Stars defeated the Rieck Old Timers in a game that proved highly interesting to the onlookers. General chairman of the event M. J. "Mike" Donovan was highly pleased at the turnout and will be able to turn over a substantial check to the American Red Cross, the exact amount will be known when advance sale tickets are checked.

At 2:45 o'clock Ralph Davis, Lawrence County Scout Commissioner, assisted by the following boys marched to the flag-pole in center field and raised both the American flag and Red Cross emblem. Bud Fisher, Bill Fisher, Dick Copson, Fred Logan and Herb Silverman, bugler. The boys are members of Kiwanis troop No. 37.

Memorial Service Held

Following the flag raising Rev. Fr. Peter Michael Schirra pro-tem pastor of St. Joseph's church conducted a brief but very impressive memorial service for the following departed members of the old Rieck team—Henry Goldberg, plant manager; Sankey McCullough, third baseman; Paul Iman, short stop, and Sammy Fowler, mascot of the team. Everyone was asked to stand with bowed head for a full minute as Rev. Fr. Schirra offered a very touching prayer. At the end of the prayer the scout bugler sounded taps.

Ross Rosenberger, chairman of the Red Cross War Relief fund was present at the game and thanked the fans for their turnout. Mayor Charles B. Mayne then stepped to the pitchers box and delivered the ball that started the game on its way. The ball was caught by Rev. Fr. Peter Schirra president of the city league.

Bad First Inning

The Rieck Old Timers got away to a bad first inning allowing the City leaguers to tally four runs, after that the Old Timers could not catch up. There were some healthy homers smacked by Byak, Eddie Koszela, Minner, and J. Marky. The Riecks had 14 hits off of five city league pitchers and the All-Stars had 19 hits off five Rieck hurlers.

Many of the Old Timers cavorted right smartly, this Dewey McGinley boy has a bulging waistline now, but can still hit the ball, having three of the Rieck hits. Benny McCann announced the first few innings and Charles "Bugs" Walther of The News finished the game at the "mike".

Sets Third National Swim Mark

MARY RYAN

Mary Ryan of Louisville, Ky., though only 15 years old, has set her third national record in the women's national A. A. U. swimming meet at Portland, Ore. The cute Kentucky minnow has done the mile in 23 minutes 15 seconds, the 440-yard free style event in 5 minutes 30 and one-tenth seconds and the 880-yard free style test in 11 minutes 26 and four-tenth seconds.

Greensburg Faces New Castle Today

Free Baseball School Aggregations Eagerly Await Clash Here

More than 3,000 fans are expected to watch New Castle and Greensburg clash this afternoon on Elders Field in the Atlantic Refining free baseball school round-robin tourney.

Conquerors of Sharon and Butler, the local outfit is banking on the slants of Amy Fontana to carry them through. Greensburg kayoed Pittsburgh for the right to meet New Castle.

Angott-Zivic Bout Postponed

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—The Angott-Zivic fight, scheduled for tonight in Forbes Field, was postponed today until Thursday evening by rain and inclement weather.

Dougle-header ball games in the field, home lot of the Pirates baseball club, tomorrow and Wednesday, forced the promoters to delay the fight until Thursday.

Sammy Angott, the NBA lightweight champion, had been favored 10-9 over Fritzie Zivic, veteran Pittsburgh campaigner.

Senior Tourney Slated Wednesday

Castle Hills golf course will be the scene Wednesday, August 28, of the second annual senior golf tourney. The event will start at 12:30 o'clock and is for all golfers over 50 years of age.

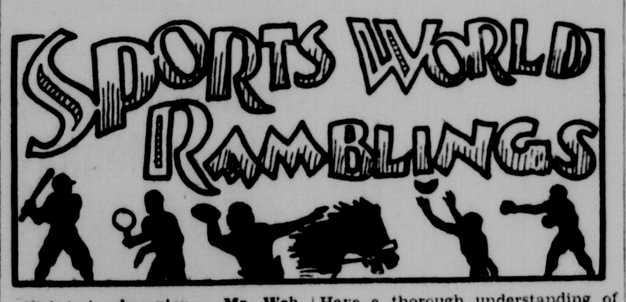
At 6:30 o'clock there will be a chicken dinner served to the golfers. There are many fine prizes. General Chairman of the event is Judd Hodge. The following committee is assisting Mr. Hodge: Paul Hunt, Emil Grommes, Walt Vogan, Mont Magill, T. H. Tommy Hitchcock, Jack Waddignton, T. N. Hockman, William M. Nunn, Larry Gramling, Pop Leslie, John Offutt and Morgan Jones.

Elders-Tigers Arrange Series

The Elder A. C. and West Side Tigers have arranged a seven-game series starting at Elders field on Wednesday night at 5:30 o'clock. All seven of the games will be played at Elders' field.

Sunday, September 1, will see a double-header at Elders field between the two teams, Tigers and Elder A. C., it was announced by Manager Joe O'Leary today.

Joe Cronin's own batting slump is partly responsible for the decline of the Boston Red Sox. He is about fifty points off his lifetime average.



Webster's champion....Mr. Webster, original designer of a book on etymology, explains that a champion is: supreme over all; unexcelled; first-rate. William Lawson Little, Jr., the 1940 National Open golf czar, is a clear-cut example of what the word means.

We first noticed the handsome figure practicing on the putting green of the New Castle Field club. For the major part of the next few hours, the 30-year-old champ answered more questions than the most inquisitive attorney would ask.

William Lawson Little, Jr., is his right name. "That's the first time a sports writer asked me that one. The name is an old southern one from Tennessee, where I was born," the champ remarked as he lined up the putts and shot with the accuracy of a barometer.

What does he thinks about the ruling which prevents him from competing in the P. G. A. tourney starting today in Hershey? "I think it is a splendid ruling. If I had my way, I'd even go a bit further. All pros would be required by law, to pass an examination before they would be permitted to be called professionals," Little asserted.

The usual question about what are the requirements needed to become a good golfer brought the following reply, "Get started right. Have a thorough understanding of the game. Grip the clubs right. Then, you must practice. You know, I can't see my mistakes. Someone else can. As a result I can correct a mistake I make."

As he toured the course we continued the questioning. His biggest thrill? Winning his first title, the British amateur championship back in 1934. The National Open title he won in Cleveland this summer had plenty of thrills attached to it, especially considering the fact that Little was forced to play an extra round with Gene Sarazen.

From hole to hole Little gave a synopsis of his life. He started playing when he was 12. His hero has always been Bobby Jones, although he never had a chance to get the great Jones in action until he (Little) commenced to enter the spotlight. After graduating from Stanford in '34, Little marched to the altar and has scaled the tops.

He attributes his success to a bright smile from Lady Luck. After watching him blaze across the hazardous local course in sub-par, the gallery understood why Little copped the grandest prize in golf. As for being first-rate, Little goes down in our little red book as No. 1 man. After the match, Little met us in the locker room. What do you think he asked as we prepared to depart? "Is there anything else you want to know about me?"

Reds Are Closer To 1940 Pennant

Cincinnati Holds 7½ Game Grip On National League Leadership

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 26—While most of the attention was focused on the exciting American League race last week, the Cincinnati Reds greased up the wheels of their jaunting-car and quietly rolled closer to their second consecutive national league pennant.

Today the Reds hold an almost insurmountable 7-1½ game grip on the top post and have but 37 contests left to play. The roof-dwellers have won 74 games to date and figuring that 95 victories, which is considereda good average, will win the flag the Rhinelanders can lose 16 of their remaining engagements and still come out victorious.

On the other hand, the second place Dodgers, who have only 36 battles left and have won 67 already must play .778 ball during the remainder of the campaign, if they wish to have their pay days carried over into October.

Cincinati was extended to the limit in taking a doubleheader from the last place Phillies 3 to 2 and 6 to 5, yesterday. Costly errors in each foray ruined any chances Philadelphia pitchers had to snare a much-needed win. Johnny Rizzo continued his clubbing the ball for the Phils, collecting his 20th and 21st homers of the season in the night-cap.

Old reliable Freddie Fitzsimmons pitched the faltering Dodgers to an even-break in the doubleheader with the pirates. He gave up five hits in the second game to capture an 8 to 1 victory, his 13th of the year, after Brooklyn blew the opener, 4 to 3.

The Cubs and the Giants divided a twin-bill, Chicago winning the opener 5 to 4 in the inning and New York the nightcap, 12 to 8, in regulation time. Ken Raffensberger worked in relief for Chicago in both games and received credit for a win and was also charged with a loss.

The Giant-killing Bees ended the Cardinal's sensational nine-game winning streak by taking the first game of a double-header 4 to 1, but St. Louis, with Johnny Mize belting his 37th homer of the current campaign, came back to annex the second game 8 to 5.

In the American League, ancient Ted Lyons, with 70,740 fans watching him, snapped the Yankee's six-game winning spurt by allowing them only three hits to give the White Sox a 1 to 0 triumph in the first half of a dual bill. The New Yorkers stayed in the junior circuit free-for-all though, by taking the nightcap 3 to 1.

Buddy Myers' triple with the bases loaded spelled defeat for the leading Indians and gave the Senators a 5 to 4 win. The Indians' hold on first place was whittled to 2-1½ games when the Tigers sank the Athletics, 7 to 3. Buck Newsom received credit for his 16th pitching verdict in this game.

The Red Sox scored 11 runs in the sixth inning to win an abbreviated nightcap, which was called in the seventh with the score 17 to 3, because of a Sunday law after the Browns captured the opener, 7 to 2.

Snead Favored In PGA Tourney

Professionals Will Start Play Today Over The Tricky Hershey, Pa., Layout

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

HERSHEY Pa., Aug. 26—Slammin' Sam Snead—of all frustration's victims in the long history of sports there have been few, and perhaps none, to match the tall, partly bald, 26-year old Virginian, who again is established as the outstanding favorite in a major golf tournament, this one being the national professional championship which began unfolding today over the rolling Hershey Country Club course. Trite, bromidic, utterly threadbare and thoroughly monotonous, the word was nevertheless, "Its Snead against the field."

Thus is was a notorious also ran against approximately 120 of this nation's greatest shot-makers in the toughest tournament of them all to win—the one in which it is man against man in match play, dog eat dog, the devil take the hindmost, etc.

Built For Snead

Somehow they always find reasons to show just why Snead should win, this particular case being the length of this course which is a long and arduous 7,000 yards, par of 73 is not so important. Many figure to beat that, but what everybody says is that Snead has the game to beat not only par and the course but the assembled elite in this test of super golf dating back to 1916.

If it is not Snead then it must be some other long hitter according to expert opinion and the odds, with the result that Ben Hogan, of Texas who is ailing with a stiff neck, and Craig Wood, who blows hot and cold by turns, are bracketed as second choices, followed by Paul Runyan, Ralph Guldahl, defending champion Henry Picard former open champion Byron Nelson and Jimmy Demaret, another Texan. The rest seemingly can be dismissed with a word: possibilities.

Ellwood Wins From Bessemer

Ellwood City Will Win Flag Providing Hot Tops Lose One Game

Ellwood City defeated Bessemer 5 to 3 at Ellwood City, Sunday, in a Lawrence County Baseball league game. Should the New Castle Hot Tops win their next three games they can tie Ellwood City for the leadership. If the Hot Tops lose one game the Ellwood City team will win the second half flag and the series with Bessemer for the circuit pennant will get under way Sunday at Bessemer.

Hot Tops Play White Sox Today

New Castle Hot Tops will play the White Sox of Wampum at Wampum today and then journey to Ellwood City to meet Ellwood City, Wednesday. The White Sox of Wampum will play Bessemer at Bessemer, on Wednesday.

Fred Daubenspeck Wins Tennis Meet

Bill Jones Defeated In Hard Fought Four Game Final Resulting In Second Daubenspeck Championship

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26—Fred Daubenspeck succeeds his brother Laird as city tennis champion by defeating Bill Jones in a hard-fought four set match on the Ewing Park courts, Saturday, August 24, 6-3, 6-1, 5-7, 6-1. Jones was also a finalist in last year's tourney but was stopped one step short of the title by Laird Daubenspeck.

Fred won the first two sets. Every point was won after fierce volleys. Jones came from behind to grab the third set, but Daubenspeck's spectacular net play and perfect placements gained him the fourth set and the match.

The playground association, sponsor of the tourney will award the winner a beautiful trophy.

Frank Blaine, and Dick Wilson will battle the Daubenspeck brothers for the doubles titles today.

Helen Frederick Weds In Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26.—Helen C. Frederick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Frederick, New Brighton and Thomas Howard Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marshall of Koppel were married quietly in the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church Saturday, August 24, at 3 p. m.

The bride wore a blue crepe dress adorned with a corsage of pink rosebuds. They were unattended. The single ring ceremony was carried out by Rev. J. E. Pringle, pastor of the church.

The couple then left for a weekend trip to Erie. After September 15 they will reside at 1446 Fourth street, New Brighton.

Mrs. Frederick is a graduate of the New Brighton high school and is employed at the Mayer China company, New Brighton. Her husband is a graduate of the local high school and is employed at the National Tube company.

Church Elects New Officers

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26—Election of a number of church officers was held last evening at the Hickory Knell annual congregational meeting at 8 p. m. at the church.

The rotation plan of officers made it necessary to elect the following: Elder, A. G. Best; deacon, Hermon Person; deaconness, Mrs. Elsie Hall! re-elected treasurer, Fred Crans; trustees, William Daufen and Harold McQuistian.

Delegates were also elected at this time for the eldership to be held this year at Mt. Pleasant, the first week in October. John D. Sockaci will represent the church at this gathering.

The present pastor, Rev. L. A. Lightfritz, was unanimously voted to return.

Reports were given by the secretary, treasurer and minister regarding church affairs.

McCready Hurls Fine Five-Hit Game As Ellwood Stays In Second-Half Pennant Race

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26—The Ellwood Shelby baseball team with young McCready their ace on the hill, defeated Bessemer Sunday at Ellwood City's Ewing Park field 5 to 3. Ellwood needs to defeat the Hot Tops on Wednesday night to win the second half county league pennant.

McCready held Bessemer to seven hits before rain interferred in the last of the eighth. Mazzant with a pair of triples was the feature hitter. Hardesty had a double for the Bessemers.

Two Big Innings

Ellwood had two big innings, the fourth and seventh when they tallied five of their runs. McCready fanned six batters and Snyder the loser fanned but one.

Tommy Puromaki of the Bessemer team had three of the hits allowed by young McCready.

This was a playoff game of an earlier postponement.

Ball Teams Split Double Header

McCready For Manos Pitches Three-Hitter To Take First Game, 2-1

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26.—After Gail McCready of the Manos had bested Pflaugh in a pitching battle to edge out the Ellport Red Sox, 2 to 1, in the first game of the American Legion Junior League doubleheader Saturday, the Red Sox pounded out ten hits off three Manos hurlers to gain a 10-3 triumph. The Red Sox, contending that the Manos used an ineligible player, announced that the first game will be protested.

In the first contest McCready gave up only three hits, while Pflaugh gave the victors only seven. No scoring occurred until the fourth frame, when Brown was hit by a pitched ball, stole second and came home on Flannagan's single. A. Wilson brought home the winning tally for the Manos when he tripled and scored on Travis' third single of the game. The only Red Sox marker was counted in the last of the seventh when Pflaugh walked, on Lordi's single to right field.

In the second game, the Red Sox climbed on Newton, McCready and Brown for ten safeties and were aided by three errors to score in every inning but the fourth and sixth.

J. McClintock featured at bat for the Red Sox, reaching base six out of seven times he went to bat, connecting for four singles and being issued two free passes. Flannagan, Travis and Bennett of the Manos each totaled three hits, one of Flannagan's going for two bases.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Callen of Ellport left yesterday on a trip through the Adirondacks. They will be gone for two weeks.

Rev. and Mrs. Leightfritz left early this morning on their vacation. They will spend one week in Akron and another week in Findley, O.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Carson of Cresson avenue were hosts this week-end to two families: Mr and Mrs. Edson Carson, Steubenville, O., and children, Beverly and Carolann, and Mr. and Mrs. Beck, Freeport, and son Charles.

Robert Liebendorfer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Liebendorfer, spent the week-end with his parents in Wurtemburg. With him was a friend, Arthur Fox, who works with Robert at Donora.

Miss Betty Gallaher of Ellport is the guest of her uncle, Smith Gallaher, and family, of Ladd, Ill.

Mrs. Wilbert Cowan, Mrs. Lewis Meisel, Mrs. James Gallaher and Mrs. Ralph Frederick and son Robert, of Rockdale, left this morning for a visit to the World's Fair, New York, and other points of interest.

State Auto Sales Company Has Picnic

Employes of the State Auto Sales company and their families motored to the Peninsula at Lake Erie, Sunday, for an all day outing event in the form of a picnic.

Thirty-six were present and in the afternoon a mushball game was played and horse shoe pitching enjoyed.

At 1 o'clock, a full course chicken dinner was served on a large table, arranged for the occasion.

Cheap champagne is made by using carbonated gas instead of allowing the beverage to ferment naturally and in due time.

AIR WAR OVER ENGLAND BEING MUCH INCREASED

Other families were reported killed and injured in their homes.

The city attacked was one of the most important in the midlands. It is feared that damage and casualties, the great majority of which were non-military, will be disclosed as most serious when investigations are completed.

A final check-up showed 55 Nazi planes downed yesterday, while an additional nine were reported brought down this morning.

Waves Of Raiders

Twice attacking the London area, waves of German raiders swept over the British Isles during the night and today, bombing numerous towns and cities and causing undisclosed casualties and damage.

Scores of houses and a church were damaged when four bombs were dropped on the London outskirts by a lone-raider, which "sneaked in" over the capital after the second all-clear signal was sounded early this morning.

British spokesmen said the church "apparently was the objective" since it was the only important structure in the area attacked.

Gas Main Hit

In another section of London firemen had a narrow escape when a gas main, blazing after a bomb hit suddenly exploded, hurling concrete through several streets. A number of shops were damaged.

In still another London district a woman was killed, her husband was injured and their home demolished by a bomb dropped during the night.

One Midland city during the night suffered the worst raid of the war as far as duration, casualities and damage are concerned.

Some streets in this city were completely closed off after hundreds of incendiary bombs and scores of high explosives did their deadly work.

Fire brigades were kept busy extinguishing uncounted fires.

Only two factories in this city were hit, however, and neither was reported seriously damaged.

Waves of German planes attacked the Midland over a period of several hours.

After the raid ended delayed action bombs dropped by the raiders kept exploding spasmodically.

One building was demolished completely by a high explosive bomb and another was gutted by flames. Firemen were able only to localize this blaze.

Sports Arena Burns

In another locality of the city a sports arena burst into flames but firemen also prevented this inferno from spreading.

A report from a southeastern coastal town charged that fire fighters battling to put out an incendiary fire last night were machine-gunned by an enemy raider. A number of casualties, including three killed, were reported from a southeast inland town where eight bombs, some of them "screamers" were dropped early this morning.

In a northeastern coastal town two homes were demolished by a "hit and run" raider.

Two persons were killed in a northeastern Scottish town this morning when a lone raider dropped eight bombs on a municipal housing estate. A man walking home was hit directly by one bomb as was a girl, who was running for shelter.

A gas main broke and burst into flames but an explosion was prevented when fire brigades smothered the fire with sand. In this town, altho all bombs landed in a congested area the damage was termed "amazingly slight."

Bombed Areas Roped Off

With London's bomb-scarred areas roped off from sigh-seers, sleepy-eyed residents yawned their way back to work today after the British capital experienced its first double-header air raid alarm of the war and its "hottest" aerial week end.

While the work of repairing damaged areas was rushed, Londoners remained unperturbed, but read with pleasure in the newspapers that Berliners had suffered a similiar attack with its attendant lack of sleep.

Chief commuter topics of conversation were these: ways to pass the time in air raid shelters, estimates of what the R. A. F. did to Berlin last night 'how I slept through it all" and the night's pyrotechnic display of anti aircraft fire in the distance against a background of searchlight beams.

Although Londoners remained casual about the increasing sky war fare, reports of motion picture theatres struck in recent raids had their effect. Last night big theatres in London were virtually deserted despite the fact they offered some of Hollywood's best products to reluctant patrons.

Persons caught in cinemas, and other west end spots during the night's first air raid alarm quickly took shelter, but the programs continued before tiny audiences.

Meanwhile an official announcement stated that 54 German raiders were destroyed yesterday—48 by British fighting planes and six by anti aircraft fire. The statement said that 13 British fighters were missing as a result of yesterday's fights over Britain but that pilots of three of these planes are safe.

West Pittsburg Homecoming Day

The fourth annual homecoming of the West Pittsburg Methodist church was observed Sunday afternoon and evening, with the celebration starting at 2 o'clock.

Special music was furnished by Mrs. Martha Shaw, Mrs. Frances Barnes, the Tanner sisters and by a trio from the Christian Missionary Alliance church.

Mrs. H. A. Anderson, a former member of the church, gave an interesting review of the history of the church, with Rev Samuel Baker bringing the message of the afternoon.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock, and Rev. Ernest Withers of New Castle served as the evening speaker with the old-time choir bringing delightful music.

Guests were present from Courtland, O., Pulaski and Wampum.

Rome Reports British Naval Base Is Raided

(International News Service)

ROME, Aug. 26.—Heavy Italian air raids on the British naval base at Alexandria were announced today by the Italian military bulletin which stated:

Successive formations bombed the Alexandria naval base. English bomber forces on land and sea near Mapedusa were sunk. A crew of three was saved and taken prisoner.

"An Italian submarine operating in the Atlantic torpedoed and severely damaged a large enemy oil tanker.

"During enemy air raids in east Africa four persons were wounded at Mogadiscio, eight natives were killed and 40 wounded at Gallabat and one child was killed and 15 soldiers were wounded at Combolcia. Material damage was slight.

May Start Painting Street Names Tuesday

Department of public assistance having provided street sign painters, the city police department chief, W. G. McMullen today made arrangements to secure the paint and it is expected that Tuesday work of placing names of streets on concrete posts will be started. It is not known how long the project will take. The signs formerly were suspended from the posts. It is believed the new plan will be more beneficial to travelers.

Alexandria Is Again Raided

(International News Service)

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 26.—One person was killed and several were wounded today when Alexandria was subjected to its sixth Italian air raid in four days.

During a 90-minute raid this morning a number of high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped. Authorities said they did little material damage.

Rain Washes Out Sports Program

Lawrence County's sports program was washed out by a steady drizzle yesterday.

News Briefs From City Hall

Police have commenced ordering members of gangs which loiter in doorways into police headquarters for an "inning" with the mayor, five having had to greet His Honor, Sunday morning. Following a stern lecture they were discharged.

Years ago police here checked loitering to a considerable degree by making loiterers move from doorways to the curb. Persons with whom police were not fully acquainted were stopped late at night and quizzed as to their reason for being out.

Saturday night Police Chief W. G. McMullen gave orders to night patrolmen to order members of gangs into police headquarters.

Leslie Barbish, 442½ County Line street, reported an act of vandalism to police headquarters today. He stated someone had scratched the rear of his automobile which was parked at his residence.

Garbage is heavy because of the corn and canning season, according to Garbage Superintendent Charles Colnot. He said that from his study of conditions "some people make garbage and others economize". He said from reports he has received some people are guilty of waste while others, according to the contents in garbage cans, are economical.

Unione Calabro Enjoys Supper

Members And Guests Numbering 150 Attend Supper Event Held Saturday Evening

Saturday evening members of the Unione Calabro club gathered with their friends in the clubrooms, where they held their annual supper event, with approximately 150 in attendance.

Following the supper, served on long tables, an interesting program was presented. The announcement was made that a concert will be featured by the WPA orchestra, under the direction of Ben Shulansky, on Wednesday, Sept. 4. Classical and popular selections and the seating arrangements will be made outside to accommodate the crowd.

Plans were discussed for a corn and wiener roast to be held on September 13 on the club grounds, with Joseph Lombardo and Anthony Audino in charge.

Those on the committee in charge of the supper were: Mrs. Grace Morabito, Mrs. Lucretia Fuleno, Mrs. Mary Lombardo, Mrs. Nellie Greco, Mrs. Millie Melito, Dora Greco and Mrs. Elizabeth Cuellis.

The next meeting will be held on Sunday, Sept. 22, in the clubrooms.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESKEALL

Let's start the week out with a few laughs perhaps . . . at least with something a little different . . . we would like to present the "Ten Commandments for More and Better Gossips".

1. Select the victim with the utmost care. For the best results choose someone of real standing in the community.
2. Don't speak above a whisper.
3. If you write annything make sure your communication is anonymous.
4. Hit and run.
5. Magnify every defect of your victim and minimise every good quality.
6. If you cannot substantiate your statements be sure to say that you got your information from a person whose identity you are not at liberty to disclose.
7. Be sure to state that even though you cannot prove the things you state that just the same you know it is true. that it was told you in confidence and that you promised not to repeat.
8. Nothing helps so much as an unreasoning antipathy or prejudice for the person you seek to discredit. Racial or religious prejudice or business or professional jealousy will provide a real incentive.
9. Have a mind void of the good and positive things. If it runs to dirt so much the better. Then you will have no difficulty in taking the evil things you think about and tying them like a tin can on someone else.
10. Never pay any attention to your own dooryard. If you spend your time doing that you will have no time to discredit and disparage others.

* * *

Have you ever stopped to think these past few months . . . about how nice it is living here in the United States . . . at night time you can go home to your family . . . eat a delicious meal and then go for a ride or walk if you prefer. Bring the children home and put them safely to bed and then spend an evening reading or entertaining your friends. Yes my friend we sure have a lot to be thankful for and we hope that we will always have a lot to be thankful for . . . May we always live in a country of the people and for the people.

Stock Market Prices Mixed

Market May Set 24-Year Old Record For Low Volume, No Definite Trend

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Listless forenoon dealings in the stock market today promised to set a new 24-year low for full-day volume. Price-changes were mixed and meaningless, with many leaders failing to sell in the first hour of trading.

No group displayed a definite trend, with the possible exception of chemicals. DuPont lost more than a point, while Air Reduction slipped about half as much.

Steels were mixed from the start. Bethlehem and U. S. Steel added minor fractions to Saturday's closings, but Republic and Crucible eased moderately. Youngstown Sheet & Tube was unchanged.

General Motors and Chrysler backed and filled around their previous closings. Coppers, oils, utilities and rails were mixed. Tobaccos ruled a shade lower, while rubbers displayed a steady tone.

CONGRESSMAN IS DEAD AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Rep George N. Seger (R) of Passaic, N. J., died during the night at Naval hospital, the hospital reported today.

Born in New York City 74 years ago, Seger moved to Passaic in 1899 and successively held the positions of mayor of Passaic from

Ignorance Can Be Dangerous

In Time Of Accidents, Speed Results In Deaths From Mishandling Injured

RED CROSS GIVES ADVICE IN MATTER

Speed is responsible not only for a large proportion of accidents, but it is frequently the cause of death following injury, Dr. L. M. Thompson, Assistant National Director of First Aid and Life Saving of the American National Red Cross points out.

Those who gather at the scene of an accident are more than curious. They have a strong desire to help. But the one idea that is uppermost in their minds is the necessity of haste. More often than not, the newspaper story should read: BECAUSE the victim was 'rushed' to the hospital he was pronounced dead on arrival," Dr. Thompson points out.

There are, of course, plenty of emergencies in which haste is vitally important, but "there are no emergencies in which it pays to do th wrong thing," the Doctor emphasizes.

The Red Cross defines First Aid as "The immediate, temporary care given in case of accident or sudden illness before the services of a physician can be secured."

First aid training is a valuable asset to everyone, but should be a prime requisite in case of those who are coming in contact with accidents, such as police, firemen, and others in constant contact with the public.

Dr. Albert Sharpe, of the National Red Cross staff, will be in the Chapter, September 9 to 20, to give an instructors' First Aid Course. Those wishing to make application for ths class should do so before September 1 at the local Chapter House, 39 North Beaver street.

Forest Seedling Shipments Reach New Peak In 1940

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—A "new high" for the shipment of forest tree seedlings was reached in the spring of 1940 by the state forest tree nurseries, W. E. Montgomery, chief of the division of management in the department of forests and waters, announced today.

The total number of trees shipped this spring was 16,500,000. This number of trees, if planted six feet apart, will make a plantation covering 16,000 acres, or nearly three times the entire area of the City of Harrisburg.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is richer by $22,500 received from the sale of seedlings this spring to private land owners for reforestation purposes. The trees are usually two to three years old when planted and are sold by the department for $2.00 per thousand for seedling and $5.00 per thousand for transplants.

Picnickers Balk At Menu Planned By Food Hobbyist

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore. Aug. 26—Just a picnicky little snack of dried octopus, rattlesnake meat, preserved snails, birds nest soup, pickled whale meat and smoked oysters will be ready to refresh the appetites of 800 Pythians when they assemble for an outdoor feast soon.

Of course there will be more substantial bits on the menu, such as horse meat, cougar, reindeer meat, plus 100 year old eggs, kippered salmon and sturgeon along with spiced crawfish tails, not to mention roast partridge in jelly.

The Pythian committee started the whole thing when they appointed Claude M. Snow, deputy grand chancellor, to arrange the refreshments.

Snow, a life long hobbyist, on fancy cooking and food immediately launched his plans for a freakish Smorgasbord that would make a gourmand's eyes water.

After looking over his menu, and having a sniff at the dried octopus, which looked like a family of snakes tied in near Boy Scout knots, less choosy members of the committee voted to have a few tables of sandwiches and watermelons to supplements Snow's culinary triumphs.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—The James administration's "reorganization" of the liquor control board is not yet complete, according to Chairman S. Rial..Although five heads have fallen under the political axe, three more high salaried employes will be dismissed, according to rumor..At the time the first two bureau chiefs were fired, Rial said probably six more would be dismissed to effect a complete revamping of the board..Since then three others in the upper salary brackets have been dropped..Governor James said that he did not contemplate ordering additional dismissals in the "near future," but indicated reorganization was not finished.

The governor seems to have more than his share of "political luck" since he took over the reins of the state government..Although various boards and commissions were held by Democrats when he took office in January, 1939, Governor James gradually has gained control of every one..Latest to pass into Republican control is the Turnpike commission..Death of Frank Bebout, Monongahela, a Democrat, paves the way for appointment of a third Republican to the five-member commission..Other members are Chairman Walter E. Jones, Pittsburgh; Charles T. Carpenter, West Chester, Democrats; and T. J. Evans, Coaldale, and I. Lamont Hughes, Pittsburgh, secretary of highways, the Republicans..One source, however, predicts that the appointment will not be made until a knotty problem arises over extension of the $70,000,000 superhighway eastward to Philadelphia from Harrisburg.

The $3,000,000 school of education dedicated at State College this month honored little-known Thomas Burrows, generally accepted as the father of free education in Pennsylvania..Burrows was appointed secretary of the commonwealth by Governor Ritner in 1837 and combined the job with the promotion of public instruction.. He toured the state asking teachers and educators for their ideas on schools before writing the normal school law, which was later ably defended in the courts by Thaddeus Stevens.. After years of state service Burrows was chosen president of Pennsylvania State College in 1867..He instituted the experimental farm and managed to pull the college out of a financial rut..Honoring the state's earliest educator is a monument at Lancaster, his home.

One of the iron-clad rules of newspapermen covering Capitol Hill is that nobody, save the governor, his secretary and newspapermen can be present at a governor's conference..Capt. Roger W. Rowland, secretary of property and supplies, sat in on one the other day, however, and was first asked to leave by Governor James..As Rowland was getting to leave, a newsman suddenly remembered that the cabinet officer was an honorary member of the legislative correspondents' association..This was called to the governor's attention, Rowland was invited to stay..Rowland is the first honorary member of the association since it was founded in 1905.

Butterfly Horde Causes Blackout In Canal Zone

(International News Service)

PANAMA CITY, R. P.—These are "blackout" days in Panama, but the Canal Zone army forces have nothing to do with the "blackouts".

Yearly at approximately this time, countless millions of black butterflies fly over this community virtually darkening the skies. This year's butterfly flight, according to United States Marshal John E. Hushing, a local resident for almost 25 years, is the greatest yet.

The flight is mysterious in every aspect, for the butterflies come from unknown regions and fly to unknown regions. Flying invariably in the same direction, which is from a spot in the Pacific northwest of Panama to somewhere in South America, the moths wing their way night and day. They have been sighted by ships' travelers hundreds of miles at sea.

CONQUERED PART OF CHINA YIELDS RICH GOLD VEIN

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI—Extensive activity is reported in Nanking, capital city of Japanese occupied China, as exploitation of a rich gold vein found in the Purple mountains gets under way.

The vein, parts of which virtually were exposed at the peaks of the mountains under only a thin coating of sand and gravel, was discovered by Sakai Sonobe, a Japanese employe of the reorganized Nationalist government.

Japanese military leaders in China have high hopes that the find will prove exceedingly valuable to them, it is reported.

The newly-established Central China Mining company, backed by the Japanese, has been investigating the total amount of gold deposits at the request of the Asia Development Board and laboratory, other Nippon enterprises.

While engineers surveyed the site and planned methods of working the deposit, experiments were being conducted with the gold ore found on Purple mountain . Purple mountain also is famous as the site of the Sun Yat-sen mausoleum.

Women Injured In Auto Crash

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Aug. 26.—Five persons were injured, two seriously, in a two-car collision Sunday along the Darlington road, near the Ohio State line. State police are holding the driver of one of the cars.

Mrs. Lena Johnston, 55, and Miss Ethel Herron, 45, of 201 Angeles apartments, this city, are in the Providence hospital in a serious condition.

Mrs. Johnston suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and body bruises. Miss Herron suffered back injuries, cuts and bruises

John H. Curry, 52, of 151 Louise avenue, Morgantown, W. Va., driver of one of the cars, and his wife, Marie, 47, were treated by Dr. John R. Davis, of Darlington, for cuts and bruises. Curry is held by police. Charles B. Stahlman, 28, of Park road, Ambridge, driver of the second car, was cut and bruised

EVERYONE IN STATE ATE 16 QUARTS OF ICE CREAM

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—There's no hesitation on the part of Pennsylvanians in knowing how to combat hot weather "blitzkreigs," State Commerce Secretary Richard P Brown remarked today.

"They simply eat more ice cream than anyone else.

"According to statistics reported to the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce," said Brown, "approximately 160,000,000 quarts of the cooling delicacy were consumed in Pennsylvania last year—more than in any other state including New York. From a per capita standpoint, the Pennsylvania consumption of ice cream in 1939 was sixteen quarts for every man, woman and child in the state.

Christian lands will triumph when ever they develop the same fiery zeal for Christianity that others show for their ism.
